BLOODY RIOTING SWEEPS RUMANIA

JOHN L. LEWIS PUTS IN PLUG FOR WHEELER

WILLKIE WILL BEAT ROOSEVELT, SAYS CIO LEADER

BY OSCAR KAHAN

St. Louis, July 2 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) made a dramatic appearance before the Townsend national convention late today, shortly after John L. Lewis had told the delegates Wheeler was the only Democrat who could defeat the Republican presidential nominee, Wendell Willkie.

With the bushy-browed CIO labor leader sitting on the speaker's platform—he had waited 40 minutes for Wheeler's arrival—the senator made a vigorous plea for a "strong, liberal" peace movement, outside the two major parties if necessary. He declared he would not support any candidate who was not pledged to keep this country out of war.

Peace Pledge Neglected

"The Republicans have not only failed to go down the line against war but they have nominated a candidate who has said our first line of defense is in Europe," Wheeler said.

"I do not subscribe to that. Our first line of defense is preserving democracy, seeing that the aged are protected, seeing that the 10,000,000 unemployed get work, and seeing that civil liberties are preserved."

Unless the Democratic party adopts a "progressive" platform and nominates a presidential candidate pledged to peace, the senator said there would be "no difference" between it and the Republican party.

"Then," he continued, "there will be a tremendous demand for a strong, liberal peace party which will give the people a chance to vote on war or peace."

Montanan Is Candidate

The Townsendites gave Wheeler a rising ovation and the Montana delegates, some dressed like cowboys with boots, gold-colored silk shirts and bandanas, paraded the convention floor. The Ohio delegation joined in the march.

Wheeler, in an interview this morning, had announced his name would be presented to the Democratic national convention, regardless of whether President Roosevelt sought a third term. He did not mention his candidacy directly in his brief speech.

Lewis, in his address, made the prophecy that Mr. Roosevelt would be defeated "ignominously" by Willkie if the president ran for a third term.

"There is only one man in the Democratic party who can take the nomination for president of that party in this year and defeat Mr. Willkie, and that man is a senator from Montana—Burton K. Wheeler," Lewis shouted.

The CIO chieftain asserted the Republican party had "failed to accept its opportunity to become a party of the people" and he declared its planks on old-age benefits and labor were "susceptible to any interpretation that any politician may desire to place on them."

Without definitely commiting himself to Dr. Francis E. Townsend's old-age pension program, Lewis brought the Townsendites an "offer of cooperation" from "the teeming millions" he represented through labor's Non-Partisan League and its affiliated organizations.

WORKER KILLED IN CUSINO AREA

Falling Tree Accident Fatal to Woodsman, Thomas Jolly, 42

Munising, July 2.—Thomas Jolly, 42, was instantly killed this morning when he was struck on the head by a tree limb while working in the woods about two miles below Buck Hill fire tower in the Cusino game area near Melstrand about twenty-five miles from here. Jolly, employed by the Newberry Lumber and Chemical Co., was working with his father-in-law, Luke Watson, and his brother-in-law, Eric Watson, both of Melstrand. The falling tree became lodged in another tree and the second tree struck Jolly when it broke. Eric Watson received a crushed leg in the accident.

Coroner Joseph Lambert, Sheriff Louis Pelletier and Attorney R. E. O'Brien went to the scene of the accident. Coroner Lambert stated there would be no inquest.

Mr. Jolly was born at Nahma April 28, 1898, and was a veteran of the World War. He came to Melstrand from Hastings, Minn., eight months ago, and two months ago was married to Miss Audrey Watson of Melstrand. In addition to the widow he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Walter Depew, 605 South 11th street, Escanaba; two sisters, Leah Jolly Birchen of Escanaba and Mrs. John Canavan of Chicago; a brother, James, of Hastings, Minn.

Funeral services will be held at the Bowerman funeral home Friday at 2 p. m. The pastors officiating will be the Rev. John Hamel of Marquette and the Rev. Ralph L. Hill of Shingleton. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

Soo Train Kills 6 Near Melrose Park

Aliens Rounded Up By Scotland Yard

Among those taken was a prominent Fascist who eluded capture in a recent raid on Fascist headquarters in London.

Bees In His Pants, Trucker Too Slow

Toledo, O., July 2 (AP)—Truck driver Frank Prater is still squirming over those bees in his pants.

They swarmed into his truck cab and settled on—and in—his trousers. Prater promptly stopped the vehicle and stripped beside the highway but he wasn't quick enough. Several insects stung him.

Copper And Brass Orders Of French Assumed By Britain

New York, July 2, (AP)—Negotiations are under way for the British government to take over French contracts for brass and copper products totaling between 25,000 and 30,000 tons, informed quarters said today.

Two weeks ago the British purchasing commission announced most French war contracts would be taken up by Great Britain.

New orders are currently being placed by Britain for finished steel products in addition to the French contracts for steel already assumed by the British.

SMITH IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Detroit Attorney Raps 'Invisible' State Government

Detroit, July 20. (AP)—O. L. Smith, Detroit attorney, attacking the control of political parties by bosses, announced tonight his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan in the September primary.

"The dictatorial and unholy alliance of the forces of invisible government with political bosses both partisan and bi-partisan in the state of Michigan should be challenged here and now to a finish fight," Smith said in a broadcast (WWJ) announcement.

The attorney, native of Union City and former U. S. district attorney, was introduced by George Averill, publisher of the Birmingham Eccentric.

A graduate of University of Michigan in law, Smith was four times prosecutor of Gratiot county, an assistant state attorney-general under Governor Groesbeck, and once a special assistant to the U. S. attorney general. He resides in Dearborn.

Smith hailed Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, as having "accomplished within the Republican party what "Teddy" Roosevelt sought to achieve outside that organization." Machine politicians, he said, returned from the convention "to make their last stand in defense of political corruption, graft and greed."

Smith is the third to enter the Republican contest for the nomination for governor. Luren D. Dickinson will seek the nomination to succee dhimself and Miller Dunckel, state treasurer, also has announced his candidacy.

A driving rain accompanied the wind.

APPROVAL SET FOR STIMSON; KNOX HELD UP

QUESTIONS HURLED AT REPUBLICAN NAVY NOMINEE

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, July 2, (AP)—The senate military committee approved the nomination of Henry L. Stimson, Republican, as secretary of war today, after two hours of questioning which produced statements that the nominee opposed sending troops beyond American borders unless the protection of this country should make such action necessary.

At the same time, the senate naval committee fired question after question at Col. Frank Knox, Republican nominee for secretary of the navy; received a staunch denial that he ever had urged giving military support to the allies, and deferred action on the nomination until tomorrow.

Third Term Deal Denied

Both Knox, the Republican party's 1936 vice presidential nominee, and Stimson, secretary of state in the Hoover cabinet, told the committees that no anti-third term pledge by President Roosevelt was involved in the negotiations leading to their appointments.

The two were named to the cabinet on June 18, in a move which produced breathless surprise both in political Washington and in Philadelphia, where the Republican platform drafters were then meeting. The Republican national committee promptly read the two out of the party.

While party readily praising the abilities of the two, and generally taking the position that their appointment strengthened the cabinet, Republicans for the most part wanted to know more about what was involved, and so today's hearings were ordered.

Exports Restricted

The Stimson appointment was approved 14 to 3, and administration factions within the naval committee are of the opinion that when the Knox nomination comes to a vote tomorrow not more than five votes will be cast against confirmation.

In addition to the committee hearings, the day also produced action by President Roosevelt to clamp rigid restrictions upon the exportation of a long list of industrial, manufacturing and chemical products which are considered of vital importance to the national defense program. The items included may be exported only with special permission. The president appointed Lieutenant Colonel Russell L. Maxwell of the army to administer the program.

Bulgaria Desires Peaceful Revision Of Rumania Claim

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 2, (AP)—Two Rumanian warplanes flew over the Bulgarian Danube river port of Ruse today and were fired at by Bulgarian anti-aircraft.

Nevertheless, Bulgaria remained completely calm with no indication of extensive military preparations similar to those taken by Hungary in pressing her claims upon Rumania for Transylvania.

Rather, it was learned tonight that a number of Bulgarian officers and soldiers had been given short leaves. Thus it appeared that while Bulgaria is eager to regain southern Dobruja from Rumania, she still is basing her hopes on "peaceful revisionism."

Republican Nominee Chooses His Helpers

New York, July 2, (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Wendell Willkie today summoned 12 party leaders from every section of the country—including workers for two of his leading opponents for the nomination—to guide his drive toward the White House.

The candidate then served notice upon corporations that he wanted no "corporate contributions in any guise, whether they be advertising in campaign books, programs or anything else."

"Honorable contributions" would be accepted, he said, but those exceeding $5,000 from any one source would be rejected.

"In my judgment, this is the people's movement and I want to keep it as such," he said.

Willkie put Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, key-noter of the Philadelphia convention and floor leader of the Willkie forces, at the head of his campaign advisory committee.

He also invited as members Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms of New Mexico, co-manager of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's campaign for the nomination, and Davie S. Ingalls, Cleveland, Ohio, attorney who managed Senator Robert A. Taft's bid.

This move was interpreted as Willkie's personal invitation to the party's rank and leadership to unite in an harmonious campaign.

Willkie said his 12-manager board would function in an advisory capacity throughout the campaign regardless of the personnel and strategy determined

Passport Troubles At Canadian Border Are Eased Slightly

Detrot, July 2 (AP)—Michigan's border problems from the tip of the upper peninsula to the southeastern corner of the lower peninsula piled up today for immigration officials but the tension was relaxed with the issuance of emergency powers to the district director.

John L. Zurbrick, director of immigration and naturalization for an area that includes Michigan's and part of Ohio's coastline that faces Canada, was authorized to waive restrictions of new border regulations in cases of emergency.

The authorization enables Zurbrick to use his discretion to allow Canadians to enter the United States without passports and to assure Canadians residing here that they may return after emergency visits to Canada.

Limited To 15 Days

James L. Houghteling, commissioner of immigration and naturalization in Washington made the authorization for cases of serious illness "and emergencies." He limited visits to this country in such cases to 15 days.

The first exception to the rules excluding from entry into the United States any alien without passport or visa resulted from a Toronto family's appeal to Washington.

The family of six, relatives of Stephen Stables, who was seriously injured Sunday in South Bend, Ind., in an automobile accident in which his wife, Emma, was killed, was the first to enter Detroit under special authorization after the new immigration regulations took effect July 1.

In 10 cases of deaths of relatives in Canada, Zurzrick permitted Canadians to enter that country today with the assurance they may return to the United States by special permission.

Birth Proof Required

Special authority for 1,600 Canadian Boy Scouts to come to Detroit tomorrow to see the Detroit Tigers play the Chicago White Sox was obtained through Zurbrick from Washington.

Meanwhile, thousands of American citizens questioned immigration officials about re-entering the United States after visiting in Canada and were advised not to leave this country unless they possess proof of their citizenship.

The warning caused a rush by many Michigan residents to obtain birth certificates to prove their citizenship. Immigration officers advised persons not possessing birth certificates or naturalization papers not to enter Canada unless they are positive they can establish their citizenship to the satisfaction of officers who will question them when they seek to return.

SEA SOS SENT OUT BY TANKER

Vessel From Liverpool Reports Torpedoing, Calls for Help

New York, July 2, (AP)—Mackay Radio today said it had intercepted an SOS from the British tanker Athellaird saying it had been torpedoed and calling for "immediate assistance."

The ship gave its position as 74.24 degrees north latitude and 16.49 degrees west longitude, about 200 miles southwest of the Irish coast.

Its master radioed, at 5:23 p. m. (EST) "Torpedoed. Want immediate assistance."

Lloyd's register lists the Athellaird as a vessel of 8,999 gross tons, owned by the United Molasses Co., Ltd., with a home port of Liverpool. It was built in 1930.

THREE BRITISH TOWNS RAIDED; DOZEN KILLED

SCHARNHORST, NAZI BATTLESHIP, HIT IN KIEL CANAL

(By The Associated Press)

London, July 3 (Wednesday)—German bombs caused at least 135 casualties in raids on three northwestern coastal towns and in the open country of the southwest last night.

Early today, it was reported that at least 12 persons had been killed and 123 injured.

It was not immediately known whether this represented the casualties of all three northeastern towns which were attacked, or only in one of them. The southwest apparently escaped casualties.

Buried In Wreckage

Many of the injured were cut by flying glass splinters.

An undetermined number in a poor quarter of one northeastern town were buried in the wreckage of their homes.

It was the second successive time that Nazi raiders took advantage of the long English twilight to bomb their targets on the mainland.

The harassment by German raiders echoed in the house of commons where Maj. Albert Newby Braithwaite asserted it was the duty of the United States "to send their fleet and their boats to take our women and children across to their country."

The air ministry announced a major success of its own, declaring that another heavy attack had been made on Germany's great 26,000-ton warship Scarnhorst.

In a raid Monday night on the Kiel Canal, the vital Nazi navy base, the Scharnhorst was heavily bombed, the ministry said.

Appeals to U. S. A.

Four direct hits on the vessel and on the floating dock in which it rested were claimed for one plane. Another dropped three bombs which exploded in a row across the battleship and started a fire.

The Scharnhorst, which the British had claimed to have damaged on two other occasions, was reported laid up for repairs.

The British raiders, the air ministry said, struck home through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire; one plane was repeatedly hit.

The battleship and the dockyard were continuously attacked for nearly an hour. A series of explosions, the ministry said, was followed by half a dozen fires through the dockyards which, from aloft, appeared to be "a solid mass of flame covering as much space as a big airdrome."

In his speech in commons, Major Braithwaite declared that "with our island in the front line trench, the U. S. A. has a responsibility in this matter. "If they are our friends—and I believe they are—they must immediately come to our rescue by sending their fleet and their boats to this country to take our women and children away."

Appeasement Attacked

In the same general discussion—a debate on plans for moving thousands of children to Canada and the United States—Labor Leader Josiah Wedgwood asserted that American generosity in offering sanctuary to these children had been "cold shouldered."

The transfer should be made through the foreign office rather than the Dominions office, he said, because "the United States will not play second fiddle to the

Use Of Fireworks Violation Of Law As Well As Sales

Lansing, July 2, (AP)—Oscar G. Olander, state police commissioner, offered a warning to Fourth of July celebrants today that the use of fireworks by private individuals is just as illegal as the bootleg sale of fireworks. The law, he said, will be strictly enforced.

Already, the commissioner declared, the illegal use of fireworks has been the indirect cause of one Michigan fatality this year. A motorist who turned his head to caution a child in the back seat of the car to cease tossing firecrackers out of the window lost control of the machine and was killed in a head-on collision near Inkster.

"A consideration entering into the matter this year," Olander declared, "involves the question of national defense. There is no more needless waste of powder and other forms of explosives than through this senseless orgy of noise and hazard."

He added that in states permitting the public sale of fireworks saboters find a hand made opportunity to purchase explosive materials.

PLANS REVISED ON SCHOOL AID

Dr. Elliott Works Out New Formula to Help Small Districts

Lansing, July 2. (AP)—A method of simplifying the distributing of state aid to public schools has been worked out by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. Elliott said his formula would be more workable than the present system under which school aid is distributed in part on the number of children listed in the school census, and in part on the basis of need.

Recently a controversy produced interpretations of the present formula that legal minds could not reconcile. The superintendnt settled it with what he described as "an extra" legal interpretation that nevertheless is fair to all concerned.

Dr. Elliott's new formula would divide school districts into three classes. The first would be composed of districts that have a population in excess of 125,000. Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint would fall in that classification. The second classification would be composed of districts with a population of 10,000 to 125,000. The third class would be composed of less populous districts.

Under Dr. Elliott's formula classes one and two would receive a flat percentage of school aid with the distribution being on the basis of the number of children of school age in each district. Class three schools would get, he said, "their share on a straight out-and-out equalization basis, or draw aid on the basis of their need.

Democrats To Hold Convention Sept. 23

Lansing, July 2 (AP)—The state Democratic convention will be held September 23 and 24 in Grand Rapids. Charles S. Porritt, the party's state chairman, in announcing the convention today said it would be in the Grand Rapids Civic auditorium.

Nominations will be made for elective state offices below the rank of lieutenant governor.

HITLER TRIES TO WARD OFF BALKANS WAR

CABINET PERSUADES KING CAROL NOT TO ABDICATE

By The Associated Press

The cabinet of the crazy-quilt kingdom of Rumania was credited today (Wed.) with having dissuaded Carol II from quitting his uneasy throne in disgust and disappointment.

Carol already is blamed by some Rumanian factions for ceding back to Russia the rich territories of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.

Meanwhile, the principal cities of Rumania were gripped last night in bloody anti-Semitic riots; Hungary and Bulgaria were preparing, by means peaceful or otherwise, to get back their World War-lost provinces of Transylvania and southern Dobruja, respectively.

There was sporadic border fighting all around Rumania.

Carol, who yielded to Russia because he admittedly did not have a friend able or willing to support him, has thrown himself with Germany in a last hope of avoiding further partitioning of his kingdom.

No Move From Berlin

Germany is interested in preserving the peace of the Balkans, but has made no apparently incisive move as yet.

Disheartened, Carol was portrayed in Balkan diplomatic circles as wanting to accede to abdication demands among extremist members of the Fascist-inclined Iron Guard and among leaders of the numerous parties which he recently outlawed in attempting to reorganize Rumania along German lines.

At any rate, the ruler who in his youth gained fame as an international playboy appeared to be in the direst predicament of any of his 10 years on the throne—years in which he has exercised successfully the deep and often obscure statecraft essential to the Balkans.

Nation Doomed?

Some of the Iron Guardists, lately returned from exile under Carol's amnesty, were said to favor abolishing the dynasty, while others would return Crown Prince Miahi to the throne.

If Carol should quit or be forced out, Rumania's fate is not clear, but disintegration is a possibility.

The Hungarian parliament heard Deputy Kozi-Horvath charge that Rumanian military requisitions in Transylvania, which once belonged to the old Austro-Hungarian empire, are "taking on the character of free looting of Hungarian property."

The Rumanian army worked overtime on defense against what its officers called "habitual Hungarian attacks" and in Bucharest Rumanian government sources charged that Hungary is trying to foment revolution among the 1,500,000 Mayars in Transylvania to speed the eventual entry of the Hungarian army into the province.

Left Without Friends

In Bucharest, Rumanian Foreign Minister Constantine Argetoianu hinted that Rumania some

Roads In Michigan Charted For Use As Military Highways

Lansing, July 2 (AP)—The state highway department disclosed today that the federal government is taking further stock of Michigan highways that may be converted into more efficient units in the nation's commercial and military plans.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, commissioner, said that bus and truck traffic over roads listed on the department's special highway map is being charted with special reference to the flow of commodities. He said the project was part of a national study of inter-state highway tonnage movement undertaken by the national resources planning board under orders from President Roosevelt.

The commissioner said Don Smith, executive secretary of the Michigan Trucking association, had informed him the war department requested reports showing the number of mobile units available in Michigan that might be used to transport materials in connection with national defense orders.

SPELL CROKEN FOR BEES, 5-3

Boston Registers First Victory of Season at Polo Grounds

New York, July 2. (AP)—The Boston Bees broke through the spell of the New York Giants today for a 5 to 3 decision in a lusty hitting affair featured by the home runs of Chet Ross and Gene Moore of the Bees.

It was the first triumph for the Bees in the Polo Grounds this year and their second in ten starts against the Giants. The result broke a four-game personal winning streak for Hal Schumacher, who gave way for a pinchhitter in the sixth.

Dick Errickson left ten Giants stranded. His mates took charge of the game in the sixth with successive homers good for three runs and added another tally in the seventh with two singles off relief pitcher Roy Joiner.

Score by innings:

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

The Republicans included an "equal rights" plank in their platform—and still all the women aren't happy over it.

There is a large group which still believes women can eat their cake and have it, too.

They don't like the equal rights plank, which is worded: "We favor submission by Congress to the states of an amendment to the Constitution providing for equal rights for men and women." The reason they don't like it is because such an amendment would automatically do away with the special legislation in effect in many states today which bears on the matter of hours, wages and working conditions of women employees.

• • •

EQUALITY ADVOCATES ARE REALISTIC

The women who are jubilent over the equal rights plank seem to be more realistic. They see that women never will have a fair chance in competition against men if they are given special favors. They don't believe women can eat their cake and have it, too.

They also see that the special favors women receive are small in comparison with the penalties put on women workers in return. Especially, they resent the tendency to discharge women workers the day they marry. They see the grave danger that one of the bills against married women working, introduced by some states every year, might be passed.

• • •

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES TURN OUT HANDICAPS

So they are willing to take their chances as equals—to give up a few special "privileges" in order to have equality all down the line.

These women don't want any special favors—which all too often work as handicaps when they go job hunting. They just want equality with men—a chance to stand on their own two feet and see what they can accomplish.

But unfortunately they don't speak for all the women in the country. Even on a question of equality women can't seem to get together.

Ball Injures Eye Of Gerald Walker

Washington, July 2, (AP)—Outfielder Gerald Walker of the Senators was struck on his right eye today by a ball he attempted to bunt in the first inning of the game with the New York Yankees. The ball was fouled back into his face.

The report to the press box said Walker's eye was cut superficially and that he probably would be out of the lineup for two days. He was replaced by Buddy Lewis today.

HITLER TRIES TO WARD OFF BALKANS WAR

day expected to get back possibly with German aid, the provinces of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, yielded to Russia last week on the Soviet's demand.

He told the foreign affairs committee of the Rumanian chamber of deputies that the lost lands "are still and will remain Rumanian." The foreign minister said that one of the main reasons for consenting to Russia's demands "was that we found ourselves without friends and without support."

Now that Rumania has scrapped her allied contacts and gone wholly into the Nazi sphere, Germany has indicated she will help avert a complete breakup of the Balkan nation.

(By The Associated Press)

Bucharest, July 3 (Wednesday) (AP)—Anti-Semitic rioting, with Jews shot down and beaten, swept into a bloody wave overnight throughout old Rumania — harassed from within, shorn of two provinces, and threatened with Balkan war jeopardizing two more.

Street fighting broke out less than 24 hours after King Carol turned about from British alliances and appealed to the axis powers for help to save his kingdom.

The capital was blacked out for the first time. Ambulances sped to scene of rioting. And from Soviet-seized Bessarabia and Bucovina the general staff rushed Rumania's full war strength to the frontiers of menaced Transylvania and Dorbuja, facing Hungary and Bulgaria.

Refugees Beaten

Disorders occurred in scattered towns from the capital to Jassy, near the border of Soviet-occupied Bessarabia where bitter fighting broke out among university students.

(Observers at Budapest reported increasingly violent anti-Jewish outbreaks and demonstrations generally through Rumania, Hungary and Yugoslavia. Reports reaching Budapest from Rumania told of beatings, persecutions and some killings.

Wealthy Jews fled from their homes in cities to refuge in the country.

Some new disorders were reported at Galati despite the vigilance of heavy military patrols on duty since riots last Sunday.

Near the Prut river Jewish refugee women and children were said to have been dragged from trains and beaten. There were reports that some were hurled beneath the wheels of moving trains or shot in their train seats in the darkness as the trains sped through tunnels.

Armies Massed

In Bucharest, ambulances were called to several riots. The worst fighting was at Polytechnic high school where several were injured critically.

The internal disturbances came at a tense hour when Rumania's armies were massed on her borders, where scattered fighting already has been reported and a major conflict is feared over the claims of her neighbors to Rumanian territory.

Hungary demands the vast, rich lands of Transylvania and Bulgaria wants southern Dobruja.

(Dispatches from Sofia said two Rumanian warplanes flew over the Bulgarian Danube port of Ruse and were fired on by ground batteries.)

Communists in Russian-occupied Bessarabia held protest meetings because Soviet authorities appointed three members of King Carol's newly-informed Rumanian party of the nation to retain their posts in the new Soviet territory. The men were named governor of Bessarabia, perfect of Chisinau and mayor of Chisinau.

Carol set up the party, with himself as its head, June 21, and commanded the whole nation to fall in step with the new totalitarian political system based on the Nazi pattern.

Blackout Ordered

(Dispatches from Bucharest to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, told of a movement by Rumania's Fascist-inclined iron guard which Carol boosted to important leadership in his new party to compel the king to abdicate on the grounds he was responsible for the loss of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.)

Appointment of the three Carol cabinet members by the Soviet occupational authorities was interpreted as a bid for support of Rumanians who became Russian subjects in the newly-acquired territory.

Rumania put into effect additional precautions, ordered a blackout for the first time, leaving only blue street lamps. Police carried carbines.

Budapest, July 2 (AP)—Hungarian and Rumanian officials exchanged bitter words over Transylvania tonight, and Hungary gave every sign of determination to regain that old Magyar province in one way or another.

Mobilization went full ahead, notwithstanding Germany's increasingly urgent efforts to keep peace in the Balkans lest her own economic interests be smashed in war.

Responsible persons denied reports that a demilitarized zone had been set up on the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier.

To avoid a conflict, it was believed here, Germany might go so far as to make a definite military and political alliance with Rumania. German activity was described authoritatively as involving "the strongest pressure."

Peaceful Pact Sought

If this were achieved, and the German inclined Hungarian army, through peaceful arrangement with Rumania were permitted to occupy all or part of Transylvania, Germany's position in southeast Europe would be fortified against the danger of further Russian encroachment.

What Hitler's government is keenly striving for, it appeared here, was a peaceful settlement of Hungarian-Rumanian difficulties which would provide better protection for the Rumanian oil fields on which he so depends—fields now under the shadow of Soviet guns.

In parliament, Hungarian Deputy Kozihorvath dramatically declared that "military requisitioning in Transylvania by the Rumania government is taking on the character of free looting of Hungarian property."

He asserted, too, that the Rumanians were taking hostages from among the Hungarian minorities in Transylvania, adding:

"The Rumanian government has distributed arms to the Rumanian peasants in Transylvania with instructions to massacre the Hungarian minority the moment the latter stirs."

Speech Stirs War Fever

Very similar accusations, pointed at Hungary, were made by official quarters in Bucharest.

Deputy Kozi-Horvath concluded his parliamentry speech here by shouting:

"The country is behind any decision of the government to act!" Prolonged cheering followed.

In another illustration of the vast unrest in the Balkans, Belgrade reported the receipt of dipomatic advices from Bucharest which stated that some extremist members of the pro-Fascist Rumanian iron guard were fostering a movement aimed at compelling King Carol to abdicate for having ceded Bessarabia and northern Bucovina to Soviet Russia.

The belief that under both military and diplomatic pressure Rumania might be willing now to discuss settlement of the Transylvania issue was heightened by the return to Budapest of the Hungarian minister to Bucharest, Laszlo Bardossy. He was believed to have brought an oral report of the extent to which Rumania might be willing to meet Hungary's claims.

King Carol's government—with much of its army equipment already lost in the Soviet occupation of Bessarabia and facing the threat of attack from Russia, from Hungary and from Bulgaria—is in a poor position either to bargain or fight it out.

Bulgaria's claims are for southern Dobruja.

Royal Pair Refuses To Send Princesses Abroad For Safety

London, July 2 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth have firmly rejected suggestions from influential quarters that Princess Elizabeth, 14, heiress presumptive to the throne, and her sister Princess Maragaret Rose be sent out of the country to one of the Dominions because of the danger of a German invasion, the Daily Mail said tonight.

Repeated efforts to persuade the royal pair to send the two princesses to a safer land have received this answer in effect:

"We all face a common peril. Thousands of parents in this country are compelled to keep their children at home. We would prefer to share whatever family perils there may be with parents of this country."

State Fair Books Fall Horse Racing

Lansing, July 2. (AP)—The state administrative board opened the way today for a fall horse race meet at the State Fair grounds in Detroit.

Upon information from Budget Director Gus T. Hartman that revenues to be derived from the $2,800-a-day license already have been allocated for the subsidy of county fairs, the board authorized the commissioner of agriculture to negotiate the contract, subject to approval of the form of the document by the attorney general staff.

The meet will extend from September 8 to October 15.

The board withheld its sanction of a proposed compromise settlement of litigation in which the Grand Trunk Western railroad company offers to abandon litigation surrounding its tax assessments in return for a reduction in penalties for tardy payment of the levies.

"I want to get this thing settled," Attorney General Thomas Read said in demanding further investigation before the plan is approved.

"But I want to get the Grand Trunk to stop filing suits against the state of Michigan, too. I'm not going to recommend that we approve this transaction until I know that the interests of the state have been protected."

The railroad company offered to pay $858,000 of taxes, interest and penalties in return for a reduction of penalties from one per cent a month to five per cent a year in a dispute over tax assessments in the period from 1935 to 1938.

The board revised a schedule of payments into the highway bond sinking fund it had imposed previously on the state highway department, after spokesmen for the department argued that the alternative course would avert "disruption" of its road building program.

Under the new plan the department will pay $500,000 into the sinking fund August 1, a similar amount October 1, and $1,000,000 December 1. The board previously had demanded four successive payments of $770,500 on the 20th day of July, August, September and October. It already has paid $1,082,000 of the amount the board demanded.

Prison Industries Can't Help Defense Program In State

Lansing, July 2 (AP)—Edward G. Heckel, state corrections director, said today he had informed inmates of the state prison of southern Michigan that there seemed to be no outlet for tehir interest in making supplies for the national defense program.

"We are going to keep watch, though," he said, "and something may turn up."

A newspaper published by inmates recently carried an editorial suggesting that convicts be permitted to manufacture war supplies through prison industries.

William Burke, manager of the prison industries, said he had not given up hope that tool and die makers serving prison sentences might be useful in the defense program.

The war department, he said, had declared it was forbidden to use materials made by prison labor. The attorney general has held that the prison industries may not manufacture items for any but state agencies.

Munster Residents Flee Into Cellars While British Raid

Munster, Germany, July 3, (Wednesday), (AP)—Residents of historic Munster fled to their cellars and were kept there three hours as British bombers harassed the city for the third successive night in a continuation of air raids that extended throughout most of the industrial Ruhr valley.

Anti-aircraft guns roared periodically during the raid which started a few minutes after midnight last night.

Fire engines screamed through the darkened streets. Incendiary bombs apparently were dropped, although few explosions were heard.

WON'T LEAVE MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 2 (AP)—Dr. E. Blythe Stason, dean of the University of Michigan law school, said today he would not leave Michigan to become president of the University of Iowa. He declined further comment on reports from Des Moines that he would succeed Dr. Euegena A. Gilmore as Iowa's president.

SHAFER RUNS AGAIN

Lansing, July 2 (AP)—Paul W. Shafer, of Battle Creek, representative in congress from the Third district, filed petitions with the department of state today to qualify as a candidate for renomination. He is a Republican.

Between $150 and $200 is reported to be the average annual cost of operating an automobile.

Mother Of Tiger Pitcher Injured; Husband Is Killed

Centralia, Ill., July 2 (AP)—Mrs. William M. McGlothin, 55, mother of Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, pitcher with the Detroit Tigers, was reported in "fair" condition tonight at a hospital here.

She was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Salem, Ill., last midnight in which her husband was fatally injured. He died about 2 a. m. Mrs. McGlothin has a broken right arm, internal injuries, cuts over her right eye and a possible skull fracture.

Rowe arrived late today after a 10-hour automobile trip from Detroit. He visited his mother and immediately conferred with her physician.

Because of her condition, Mrs. McGlothin was not told of her husband's death. An inquest will be held at Odin tomorrow. Burial will be in Little Rock, Ark.

Dominions."

New labor outcries were heard against the presence in the government of men who have helped appease Adolf Hitler in the past.

The powerful National Union of Railway Men demanded by resolution the immediate removal of all officials "associated with the previous government's policy of appeasement."

The resolution was sponsored by Labor Leader A. H. Patton, who told a conference of the union at Morecambe:

". . .Our fifth column men who still are in positions of power ought to have been removed when the government was reconstituted."

He asserted that he feared these officials—whom he did not name—more than German planes or mechanized troops, saying:

"I want to see them put in a position where they cannot possibly betray this country in the way Marshal Petain (head of the surrender government) betrayed France.'

(By The Associated Press)

Berlin, July 2—Germany reckoned her total casualties in the western offensive which crushed the lowlands and France at 156,492 tonight.

Figures issued by the high command in a report on "the greatest military victory of all times" said 27,074 German soldiers had been killed since May 10, 111,034 wounded and 18,384 missing.

(General Charles De Gaulle, the die-hard French leader in London, figures allied dead, wounded and missing up to the final surrender at 1,318,080. However, private estimates have placed dead, wounded and missing of France alone at 1,500,000 in the last month of the war.

(Hitler previously announced his total dead, wounded and missing in the Norway campaign as 5,286. In the Polish campaign, the total was placed at 44,298.)

Swedes Increase Exports

Allied air losses, the German high command said, amounted to 792 airplanes and 27 balloons from June 4. Since the middle of May, the report said, 400,000 tons of merchant shipping have been destroyed by submarines, and since June 5 allied shipping losses inflicted by German air forces totalled 299,000 tons.

Other German sources proudly cited trade figures to show that Europe is fitting itself quickly into a German-dominated economic order.

They said the Swedes had promised to sell five times as much paper to Berlin as before; that almost all of Norway's fish, lumber and metal output is coming to Germany and that Finland is going to increase her exports to Germany by 75 percent over last year.

German air raids on the northern Scottish port of Wick and the Bristol channel on the English west coast were related in another communique. A British raid on Kiel was minimized.

BENEFIT CLAIMS SHOW INCREASE

Unemployment However, Decreases In Delta County

Claims for unemployment compensation benefits throughout the state increased slightly during the month of June, according to information received yesterday from the local office of the Michigan State Employment Service, a division of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

During the week ending June 1, there were 58,292 claims filed throughout the state and 61,940 the following week with a total of $567,390 paid out in unemployment compensation benefits. These figures increased during the week ending June 15, when there were 67,119 claims for unemployment compensation.

In the upper peninsula during the week ending June 1, there were 3,597 claims filed. This figure decreased to 3,438 claims during the week ending June 8 with the total benefits amounting to $29,537. A further decrease was made in the week ending June 15, where there were 3,191 claims made with a valuation of $28,565.

Difference Due to Industries

The difference in ratio in the decrease made by the upper peninsula and the increase of the state as a whole is due entirely to the different sypes of industries in the two sections, according to officials of the local office. There is a great deal of seasonal work in the upper peninsula, such as logging, in which dull periods do not coincide with the industries in lower Michigan. A good example of this is that loggers are just beginning to operate while downstate the automobile factories are in the midst of their between model layoffs.

The local office of the commission gave evidence of this decrease of claims for unemployment compensation, when there were 286 claims filed in the week ending June 8, as compared with only 220 claims the following week. The amount of compensable claims filed has shown a steady drop from the high point reached during the month of April to the present time.

The Manistique office of the commission, however, has shown a slight increase in the number of claims. During the week ending June 8, there were 51 claims filed, while in the week ending June 15, a total of 60 was reached.

A total of $2,174 was paid out for 237 claims in Escanaba for the week ending June 15, compared with a total of $262 in benefit payments made through the Manistique office for 29 claims.

It is expected that there will be a decided increase in the number of claims for unemployment compensation during the next few weeks throughout the entire state, as those who filed claims when benefits first were paid will become eligible to file again after July 1 under a new benefit year.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Dorothy Thompson

Mr. Willkie stands on the Republican platform. It is very weak timber on which to stand. The good American earth is firmer.

At the convention I listened for a voice. I listened for a voice which would say wha my ears, just one pair of American ears, wanted to hear. If it had spoken, I think it might have said something like this:

Men and Women of the United States of America:

In the gravest days of this republic to make a bid for the leadership of this nation is a serious responsibility. , It is a responsibility that no man should lightly seek, and from which, if his soul is awake and aware, he will recoil. Half the world is engaged in a great civil war, testing whether any nation, conceived as ours was in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal, can long endure.

If, therefore, we seek the leadership of the nation in this hour, it must be with humility, and with the utmost dedication to a gigantic task. No man is to be envied who sets his foot upon the path to the White House in these times.

Yet there will be sources of great strength behind him, if he lets them get through to him. Those sources of strength are in the myriad souls that are crying out to us: Save America! Let us listen to what they are crying out to us. They are crying, Save American—Save her for the present and for the future—Save her for the purpose for which she was born; the lifting and ennobling of man upon this earth. Preserve her and rebuild her! Keep flying the banner of the brave and the free. Make it the banner of the New World, built by the children of a world in collapse—the Old World. Show us how to use our energies and our resources, our vast unused capital of money and goods and men, our great untapped reserves of manual and mental and spiritual energy, that we may make, and make speedily, a paradise for men upon this heartbroken earth, and a paradise that we can defend forever.

This is what the people of the United States are demanding that political leadership should do. This and nothing less is what political leadership must undertake to do. We must liberate the energies of this continent, for regeneration and for defense.

The American nature, the American tradition, the American way, is not to regiment men and resources into a rigid army commanded by party bureaucrats and ununiformed Gestapos. The great American word is Freedom. But it is not our task to free our resources in order that each man may scramble for his own privilege, but to free them that each individual and each organization may realize themselves as individual players in the great symphony orchestra of a common effort.

Whoever becomes President of the United States today as a candidate of a great party must seek only to serve the whole people of this nation—the cotton picker of the Alabama plantation, the farmer on his farm, the youth battering vainly at the doors of opportunity, as well as the organizers of industry, who in the last years have been baffled and bound by ill-considered theories and confused means gropingly used to promote necessary and desirable objectives.

Whatever party can find the key, liberate the energies and save America need not worry about its future. Its future is inseparably linked to the future of the United States of America. The future of our youth, the future of every industrialist, the future of every farmer, the future of our workers, are all inseparably linked to the future of the United States of America.

We should waste little of our energies in this campaign upon recriminatory attacks upon each other, whatever our party may be. Let the dead past bury its dead. None of us is all-wise; none of us has had such foresight that he can be arrogant about the failures of others.

The New Deal, for all its idealism, is inadequate to the tasks at hand and ahead. Let us give credit to its social ideas. It has faltered in social reality. But let us not repeat its mistakes, and subject our program to petty partisan considerations of political preferment. Let us not try to keep ourselves in power by trying to buy the American people. We do not need to buy them. We only need to attract them, and show them what to do. They are eager to have their heads and hearts and hands unleashed.

In a few short weeks a world has passed away. We must therefore look at ourselves and at our nation and its problems with fresh eyes. Much of what all of us said yesterday is no longed valid, for the premises on which our words and thoughts were based are no longer there.

Yet we were not born today, and though our program and performance must be adapted to a new situation, the things in which we believe, the body of our national faith is more valid than ever in history. Men are still born free and still seek equality and happiness. Government of the people is still the hope of this earth. Freedom of speech, of press and of assembly, freedom of enterprise, freedom to own property, freedom to live one's personal life in privacy—all validity because they have been locked up in concentration camps or trampled into earth by marching men. They live on this soil and they live in millions of hearts everywhere on this unhappy earth. They will live until the last human soul has perished off this globe.

Our party must make it absolutely clear that we shall defend these freedoms, and defend them where they must be defended — against their enemies. These freedoms are instruments to preserve freedom. They must not be turned into instruments by which foreign powers invade our press, our assembly halls and our corporations to divide this nation and plunge it into strife. They must not be used as a means of promoting class hatred and racial fury, letting loose the dogs of war in our midst rather than across the seas.

We should make it clear that the Communist party will be outlawed under our administration, because it is an instrument of a foreign government; and that the Bund will be outlawed for the same reason. But we should deal with this problem at the source, and not by persecuting deluded W. P. A. workers. And we should grant to all Americans whose party line is not laid down in Moscow, Berlin or Rome, the right to advocate what they will, as honest, independent men. Nor shall we interpret freedom of enterprise to mean freedom for any investments or opportunities abroad.

We should give our oath to the people of the United States that never while we are in office will any other flag be carried in our streets, or any uniforms not our own be worn.

We should give our oath that never will there be a Nazi, a Fascist or a Communist movement camping on the White House lawn or in the halls of government.

We should swear that never will men live in terror because of their race.

We shall not protect our institutions by a defensive, but by an offensive war. But we shall wage that offensive against the leaders and not against the little fellows, for they will come with us when they see where we are going.

The chief reason why the Fifth Column is a menace is because all our own columns are not mobilized, but are seeking their own interests.

The beginning of our defense program is spiritual integration.

For twelve hundred years, in victory and in defeat, France has been a great and independent nation. Today France is beaten to her knees.

For more than nine hundred years Great Britain has been a mighty power. Today she is overcome with disaster.

Why has this happened to two great nations? France was beaten in part because she did not have enough machines, but she was also beaten because men dropped their guns upon the field of battle. Why did they drop their guns and abandon whole mechanized columns? Because their leaders loved their own political jobs and their own foreign investments and their own dividends more than they loved the nation. Because their leaders were blind to the social discontent amongst the people. Because of the incredible complacency of those leaders, who up to the last moment were prepared to settle things with a deal.

Let us not make the same mistake.

Let us have, from now on, neither an Old Deal nor a New Deal but a new America.

Today, to a degree that could not even be imagined two months ago, machines and mechanized equipment are essential to win a war or defend a nation. But machines are driven by men, and no country can defend itself whose soldiers and citizens do not fight their several battles with complete solidarity and conviction.

This hemisphere, as the last refuge of the Rights of Man, must be equipped to repulse not only one mighty power but a combination of hostile powers. America must arm herself, using whatever means are necessary for this task, with a joyful willingness to sacrifice and on a scale and with a speed that will surpass the expectation and the imagination of all potential enemies of this country. America must arm herself in spirit and in might. We must make a nation which every American of every race, creed and economic condition will die to defend.

We shall look to our defenses, to our social defenses and to our material defenses. And I have absolute confidence that if we do so, there will pour forth that spiritual energy without which nothing great can be done.

America is facing the greatest moment of her history; she is facing one of the great moments in the history of the world. She is not yet awakened, either to her peril or to the sublime grandeur of her destiny. We shall either fulfill on this hemisphere the hopes that mankind has always had of us or we shall perish off this earth.

We shall not perish. We shall fulfill those hopes. There is no time to lose.

Let us begin—today.

* * *

Fellow citizens: It does not greatly matter who is President of the United States, so long as he is an honest and able man. We need no Fuehrer. We are self-governing. But it matters very greatly that the people of the United States who feel the importance of this hour should get together in the greatest pressure group in our history—the pressure group for America.

In response to your many letters, I have therefore made this move. Let us find each other and then find millions more.

Chet Wixson Dies In California, Was Former Escanaban

Word has been received in Escanaba of the death of Chet Wixson, former resident of this city, who passed away Sunday in California and was buried Tuesday. Mr. Wixson was the son of a pioneer Escanaba photographer, and was in business in Escanaba and Gladstone, later going to Rhinelander where he purchased an electric plant. After selling out the Rhinelander enterprise Mr. Wixson retired and went to California. His widow is the former Rose Bishop, also of a former Escanaba family.

Workers May File Claims Over 65

Workers can file their claims for old-age and survivors insurance at age 65 or any time thereafter, whether or not they plan to retire, William E. LaRock, manager of the Social Security Board's office at Escanaba, pointed out today. He explained, however, that insurance payments will not be made to any worker as long as he is employed—that is, the worker will not receive an insurance payment for any month in which he earns as much as $15 on a job covered by the law.

Mr. LaRock said that workers age 65 or older who are planning to file a claim for insurance payments should consult the Social Security Board office on two separate points. First, the employee may not have worked long enough to be eligible for benefits, but if he continues to work he may qualify later. Any worker who plans to retire in order to get his insurance payments should inquire whether he is eligible before quitting his job.

The second point on which Mr. LaRock advised workers of 65 or more to consult the Social Security office is concerned with the amount of the worker's benefits. He explained that the amount of each employee's benefit will be determined by the monthly average of wages he has received under the system prior to the time he applies for benefits, whether or not he continues to work. In some instances where the employee continued to work, the amount of his benefit would be increased if he waits and files his claim later. In other cases where the employee is working at a lower wage than formerly, it might be to his advantage to file his claim at once, Mr. LaRock asserted.

The CAA is re-rating all former instructors in connection with expanded air training work, which is to bring a ground school of 75 students to Escanaba with flying instruction to follow.

Wood is tentatively scheduled as ground school instructor and Arntzen as flying instructor. The school is expected to get under way here soon, but a definite date for the start had not been announced yesterday.

NEW BITE PROTECTION

Children as well as grown-ups can go about their usual outdoor activities without fear of the hordes of mosquitoes prevalent these days, if they are sprayed with Ace insecticide, the product may be sprayed on the body or on the finest of materials without danger of harm to either. In the scene above, Ace is giving the folks the full benefit of the great outdoors.

Ace Insecticide Proves Popular With Outers

Chemical experts are turning the guns of their genius on the current mosquito plague with devastating results to the buzzing pests. In fact, things have reached the point where a mosquito can no longer go about the business of boring into humanity with total abandon. He must first stop, look and sniff, in search of mosquito repellent bedecking the person of his intended victim, and the records show that if he discovers his goal forearmed, he moves to more attractive fields without further argument.

Outstanding among the popular repellents this year is Ace Insecticide, sold at Lauerman's exclusively. Its effectiveness in putting a "hands off" or, to be exact, "stingers off" sign on those who use it, is becoming widely recognized, and the company has been forced to speed production to supply the demand of those who prefer to indulge in fishing, swimming, picknicking, camping, gardening and other outdoor pleasures, minus the presence of mosquitoes.

Not restricted to the destruction of mosquitoes, Ace Insecticide also kills flies, ants, gnats, roaches and other similar insects. It is highly effective as an insect-destroying agent when sprayed on the under sides of leaves and flowers.

Suggestions for your comfort

1. Spray your bedroom before retiring . . . give the screens a good dose. You'll have a comfortable night.
2. Spray ACE on the youngsters' faces, hands and legs when they go out to play.
3. Spray your porch or the area on the lawn where you wish to sit, and you'll forget this is a mosquito year.
4. If you play golf, fish, ride horseback, use ACE before you go, and mosquitoes will give you a wide berth.

Other Uses for ACE

1. Rids dogs and other pets of fleas; just spray it into their fur.
2. Protects horses, cows and other animals from insect bites.
3. Spray your plants; ACE will kill most plant pests. It has no injurious effects.
4. Is used extensively where large outdoor gatherings, such as concerts and dances, are to be held. Spray the grass and shrubbery thoroughly, and mosquitoes hie away to other feeding grounds.

100,000 Visitors

SOME idea of the number of tourists who come to the Upper Peninsula annually is to be derived from the announcement that the state highway department's information lodge at Menominee welcomed visitor No. 100,000 on Sunday.

In the three years since the lodge was opened, 31,425 automobiles and 100,000 persons have registered at the lodge, coming to Menominee from every state in the Union and from 32 foreign countries. However, this is only a small percentage of the number of tourists, who have come to the Upper Peninsula through Menominee. Many visitors do not bother to stop at the lodge and, of course, many more tourists come to this region through the Straits of Mackinac and other gateways.

The state information lodge makes it possible for the official in charge to get a definite idea of what the tourist's wants are. According to Henry E. Bruemmer, the visitors' first interests are in the highways, their routes and condition, and next comes requests for information about scenic routes. Fishing is third in importance to the tourist, according to the inquiries received at the tourist lodge. Hunting, sites of historical interests, and facilities follow.

It is likely, however, that tourists are more interested in fishing possibilities than the inquiries at the Menominee information lodge would indicate. Letters received by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau indicate that fully 90 per cent of them are planning to do some sort of fishing, but it is plausible that those who stopped at the lodge were at the time mostly interested in the condition of the roads over which they expected to travel.

No doubt, the state highway department officials secures much information at the lodges that serves to guide them in their highway construction and maintenance program. It is a good way to determine what the traveling public wants.

It's Undignified, But—

THE Republican convention is over. The Democratic convention is soon to come. The organized cheering, the bands, the banners, the parading delegates, the monkeyshines and noisy hullabaloo will subside. The discarded banners and badges will be swept up from floor and gutter.

The usual crop of "outraged-dignity" pieces have been written. This is no way, insist some of these writers, for a great nation to conduct its affairs. There should be order, solemnity, dignity.

Perhaps. And yet—

There is something about these great quadrennial political circuses that is really American. They are great and sprawling as America itself is great and sprawling. They are gusty and hearty, as our great land is gusty and hearty. They throb with a certain lusty vitality. And so does the country which, in a rough-and-ready sort of way, they represent in action.

William Philip Simms, veteran foreign correspondent for the Scripps-Howard newspapers, dropped in on the Republican convention. Literally dropped in, we mean, for he came to it direct from the clipper which brought him from Europe. Simms, a citizen of the world, had always looked on these conventions with faint distaste, just a little ashamed that his country should function in a way so crude as compared with the sedate procedure so often seen abroad.

But this time it was different. The contrast, only one day by air from the bloody fields of Europe, was overwhelming. "I was no longer ashamed," wrote Simms. "I was proud. I was proud of the roistering good-natured crowd; proud of that solid acre of newspaper correspondents telling 130,000,000 other American citizens exactly what they saw . . . proud that we are not forced by fear of a firing-squad to take ourselves and our candidates for office so seriously."

There is dignity and dignity. There is perfect order, no doubt, when the dummy legislature of some European dictatorship sits solemnly at the feet of their Supremissimo to be told what is to be what for the coming year.

But as for us, we'll continue to stick fast for less dignity and more freedom, fo rthe rough-and-ready American method of registering, even through noisy demonstrations and gaudy hullabaloo, some approximation of what the people want.

There is a real dignity there that can never be found in a country that is not free, however sedately it may conduct its affairs.

Private Armies Are Out

NOW it is certain members of the American Legion who are proposing a "private army."

It has been said before, and must be said again and again, as often as necessary—"One people, one government, one army."

Bund adherents drilling "private troops" for their own kind of "police duty"—that's out. Communists drilling squads for "riot work"—that's out. Jewish war veterans organizing "Jewish Legion for U. S. border defense"—that's out. Even American Legionnaires recruiting some kind of a "supplementary army" under their own direction—that's out, too.

Such defense forces as the country may need, for strictly military and even for home defense, will be organized by the proper government agencies. Any other efforts to form anything remotely resembling an army, no matter how well meant, must be discouraged and prohibited. Only confusion can come from it.

"One people, one government, one army."

Stalin Tries Balkan Stew

ALL modern European history is dotted with efforts to draw border lines in the Balkans that will stick.

None of them ever have.

Stalin has now grabbed Bessarabia and Bukovina from Rumania, and Hungary will grab Transylvania if it can.

It is all part of the re-drawing of the may of Europe that is now going on — a re-drawing based on military strategic and economic considerations. After the World War, a real effort was made to draw these boundaries on a basis of peoples and nationalities. It failed.

Now we shall see how permanent it will be to re-draw the map like a single great military problem or a chart for a planned economy.

It would take a true optimist to have any hope of better success.

THE POPULAR WILL
(Baltimore Sun)

The Republican Party has nominated for President its ablest man. Not only is Wendell L. Willkie the ablest man who was available in the Republican ranks. He had directed his abilities to the most enlightened and patriotic causes.

His victory has been achieved without political organization and without political backing. It has been achieved within a matter of weeks after three rivals long in the field had apparently foreclosed effectual opposition from any outsider. It is a victory which is a miracle of American politics. But the miracle has a simple explanation. The American people have become aroused to meet the problems which confront them at home and abroad. In Mr. Willkie those of the people are Democrats—saw a man who addressed himself mearlessly to the problems before them. Before this meeting of the man and of the issues, the professional politicians became helpless. The popular will found its expression in Philadelphia.

THE REPUBLICANS PUSSYFOOT
(Milwaukee Journal)

With an extra week to work on it, and with the long preliminary "study" of Glenn Frank and his associates to guide them, the Republicans at Philadelphia present the country a platform that is a sorry mess. A few days ago, when the platform committee was laboring to round the document into shape, William Allen White, always a good Republican in the voting season, wrote in disgust:

"It is unthinkable that 1,000 men and women who have in their hands the destiny of their country should be entirely innocent, so puerile in their political attitude, walking in the grooves laid down by dead politicians, the moldy traditions of other days."

Perhaps it is "unthinkable" that the thing should be done. But it has been. All that the mighty laboring seems to have accomplished is the putting of generalities and self contradictions into smoother phrases than is usually done.

All the party's courage seems to have been used up in damning the opposition. After that come the promises of "Americanism, preparedness and peace." Surely a lovely phrase, but one which may leave the Republicans this fall frantically trying to convince the public that they are not the party of "appeasement." Appeasement isn't popular even now and is likely to be less so before the ballots fall.

Then come promises such as "removing waste, discrimination and politics from relief" by turning over subsidies to local politicians; and "an equitable balance between labor, industry and agriculture." But this is to be achieved without any economic planning or government control. Until this Utopian condition is realized, however, there are to be New Deal "benefit payments" and "incentive payments" and "farm credit at low interest rates." There is to be "increased security for old age" at lower cost.

After 70 years of unscientific tariffs, practically all of them smashing up in hard times and depression—the last one coming in with Herbert Hoover's administration—there is to be a scientific tariff of "protection." And in the news of the same day is a cable from Buenos Aires telling how Hitler's agents are in that country to negotiate gigantic barter deals with our South American neighbors. Republican "tariff protection" in these days? It would be laughable were it not so ridiculous.

While they bow in Philadedphia to their ancient fetishes, the very world in which we live is changing, and these Republicans do not realize it.

In all this political humbuggery, the Cleveland convention idea of 1936 seems to have triumphed. That is, promise to do all that the New Deal has done, but do it better and at a lower cost—such nonsense as promising to reduce taxes yet balance the budget.

But it was the question of foreign affairs over which the platform makers sweated hardest. They sweated and threw away the opportunity to show a bold front and challenge the opposition. Here the old 1916 Hughes campaign idea of pussyfooting seems to have commended itself to the skilled joiners of weasel words. The platform proclaims a crisis in the national life—such a crisis that the "incompetents" in office cannot be trusted to carry the nation through.

And then, by way of showing its courage, its honesty, its forthrightness in dealing with the American public, these platform makers try to set up the Republican organization as the "party of peace." It has not heard of Europe's changing hands. It hasn't the fortitude, vulgarly called "guts," to say how far we should go in aiding any side, how it would meet conditions certain to arise.

Republicans aren't any less patriotic or more patriotic than Democrats. The administration has a record. The Republican platform is afraid to make one. Its opportunity was to define its position positively and meet the Democrats on that issue. On the issue on which it ought to have been strongest it is weakest—and deliberately so.

The platform failure put the whole Republican chance up to its choice of a candidate.

Washington, D. C.—Whatever may be the final outcome of France, it now seems certain that French possessions will play a conspicuous part in casting the die of its future. Indeed France's possessions are several times larger than the country proper.

Notable among the possessions of France is Algeria, with an area of 847,000 square miles, while the Republic of France contains only 212,660 square miles. Because of its natural resources, many of which are undeveloped, this colony has long been coveted by other nations.

Algeria is the name given by the French in 1837 to the then ill-defined North African countries, only a sixth of which had submitted to Turkish rule of the Algiers Regency. The latter's existence depended on piracy of the Barbary corsairs and on extortion of taxes from tribes of the interior.

France gained control of Algiers in 1830 and has done a remarkable job in its partial development. The weakness of local government had allowed independent groups of the Berber and Arab populations to wage constant war among themselves and often to rebel against the authority of the rulers. National conception and sentiment were totally unknown in these lands which, from time immemorial, had been subjugated by foreign or local powers who had never succeeded in welding the heterogeneous tribes into a durable and conscious unity.

The consequences were disastrous. Insecurity made approach by land or sea extremely dangerous. Foreign relations could be maintained only at the price of humiliating concessions, veritable tributes paid by the powers to brigandage and slavery. European inhabitants who were best placed for the maintenance of trade relations had practically abandoned their posts. Established in small numbers in a few parts, they exported only limited quantities of cereals, wool, and wax. Owing to the general poverty of the country, there were few imports.

In the interior, bad roads, mule-paths, and tracks were the only means of communication. Traffic, always disturbed by tribal hostilities, was confined to the vicinity of local markets. Many townships enclosed themselves within walls. The fertile plains were deserted by the inhabitants who took refuge in villages possessing natural defenses, thus leaving vast stretches of land uninhabited.

Despite its high birthrate, the population remained stationary, except when it diminished during the years of famine, cholera, and plague. For instance, during 1787, a third of the population of Algiers died from plague, and largely because there had been no effort to establish rules governing sanitation.

It was France that first made herself mistress of all these territories after long struggles with adversaries whose bravery and warlike spirit were excited by Moslem religious fanaticism. This epic struggle which began with the capture of Algiers in 1830 lasted nearly thirty years and was followed by the penetration of the Saharan regions and the submission of the desert dwellers. The outcome of this conquest has resulted in the mutual respect and reciprocal friendship of the conquerors and conquered.

—POPULATION AND RESOURCES—

Peace and security now reign over the whole of Algeria, among the nomads as well as the settled tribes. Mountainous regions are open to traffic and to the penetration of stimulating and civilized influences from the outer world, and are thus drawn into the general evolution which binds Algeria more and more to France.

Opened freely to immigration, colonists arrived from neighboring Mediterranean countries, from France, Spain, Italy, and Malta, the majority of whom settled permanently, founded families and prospered. Marriages between the French and Latin immigrants soon effected the mixture of these elements already related by race. Legal naturalization, moreover, encountered no difficulties. Thus a European neo-French Algerian population came into being, grew, and formed an original synthesis, the equal of which has never been known, either for its homogeneity or for the rapidity of its assimilation.

There are today in the whole of Algeria about 850,000 Europeans—immigrants or descendants of immigrants. In 1830 Algeria had a native population of only 2,000,000 Arabs, Berbers, and Jews. The combined population is now in excess of 6,550,000.

The country is also rich in minerals, including iron, copper, lead, sulphur, zinc, antimony, marble, phosphate, petroleum, and mercury. In many respects Algeria is one of the richest portions of the world, and its full development would be a sustaining force for any nation.

Hollywood Column

BY PAUL HARRISON

Hollywood—All over the lot: I have a notion that the big boss of Paramount once sent an order to the coast to make lots of topical pictures. And that through secretarial error or mis-reading, it came out "tropical."

Anyway, they're still building new jungles and refurbishing old South Sea islands on the lot. All the parrots in Hollywood with Hays Office-approved vocabularies seem to have taken up residence at the studio, and there are middle-aged monkeys around the place which don't remember any other home.

Even slick Fredric March has been established on one of these sets. He's the recluse of Joseph Conrad's "Victory," and his companion in synthetic loneliness is Betty Field. She's wearing a sarong, too.

It's not surprising that Dorothy Lamour is back in another equatorial epic called "Moon Over Burma." What's news is that she DOESN'T wear a sarong this time, and that she'll try snake charming. Having charmed almost everything else — chimpanzees, panthers, seals, elephants, alligators and Robert Preston — she's about to work with a King Cobra.

POWDER PUFF WESTERNS

Guitars and romance have softened westerns alarmingly, but nothing has so affected the morale of sage brush actors as the discovery that trusty six-guns are shooting talcum - powder these days.

This humiliating development was worked out by Producer Harry Sherman and his prop man for the "Cherokee Strip" company. The explosion of ordinary black powder in blank cartridges doesn't photograph well; looks like a cloud of soot. A whispy gray curl of smoke, as described in the pulp magazines, was what they wanted. They got it by dropping a pinch of talcum between the paper waddings of the shells. Any day now, they may add a little perfume so that the villain won't gag on the acrid fumes.

SOY BEANS ARE SWELL

The Tugboat Annie company has been working with real vessels lately, the story problem being how to refloat a freighter which is supposed to have gone on a sandbar. Two tugs have been hired for Annie and her rival, Captain Bullwinkle, and a large Danish motor ship plays the stricken cargo ship.

The Danish captain is in a vile humor and is being treated like a temperamental star. His ship is idle in the harbor as a result of Germany's conquest, and the hold is full of thousands of tons of soy beans which have got a little damp and are beginning to swell. The swelling is springing the freighter's plates, thus admitting more water to produce more swelling . . . One of these days it's going to crack open and sink, and not even Annie Brennan can do anything about it.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—There was a lot of immediate jubilation in New Deal circles over the nomination of Wendell Willkie on the basis that he was a power-trust-J. P. Morgan mogul and therefore easy to beat. However, sober-minded reflection from Democratic realists is now the opposite.

They recognize that whether the GOP bosses liked him or not, the Republicans have nominated a man who will give Roosevelt or any other Democratic candidate the fight of his life. Political "oomph", in their opinion, counts for more than the power trust handicap, and there is no getting away from the fact that Willkie is the oomph wonder of present-day politics.

All this sharpens the issue of the third term. More than ever it puts the future of the Democratic party solely in the hands of one man.

For all the Democratic realists admit that Franklin Roosevelt is the only man who can win against Willkie. Cordell Hull would seem a kindly old saint for the early pages of American history compared with the young political dynamo who cleaned up Philadelphia on the fifth ballot.

—FDR SHUNS 3RD TERM—

Meanwhile, those who have talked to Roosevelt in recent weeks get the impression that he definitely and genuinely does not want to run. The word he gave Colonel Frank Knox — that Secretary Hull was his candidate—he has also repeated with monotonous rhythm to many others. He has appeared tired and very much discouraged at the way things have been going in Europe. He has said that he does not see why it is up to him to carry the burden for the Democratic Party.

Also, he has made the point that in these days of encroaching dictatorships, the United States should avoid making any move which might appear, even by precedent, to be a step toward dictatorship.

So consistent has Roosevelt been in saying this that one of his close friends, a Supreme Court Justice, has been telephoning Roosevelt's friends in New York asking them to urge the President to run.

Only one deviation from this line of reasoning has crept into the President's conversation. This is the challenge of Hitler. Roosevelt regards the Fuehrer as the greatest menace this country ever has faced; a challenge to everything the American people stand for; likewise a challenge to Roosevelt. And he would like to be in the vanguard of those who eventually down Hitler.

—NO OTHER DEMOCRAT—

However, there is another situation which is important. This is the precarious position in which the Democratic Party finds itself if Roosevelt does not win. With two weeks to go before the Chicago convention there is absolutely no other Democrat built up sufficiently to take the ball and carry it. The President has virtually all the delegates pledged to him. The whole convention will be centered on Roosevelt and on no other man.

In other words, Roosevelt will have to run or alse it means sure Democratic defeat. Furthermore, if he should back out at the last minute, a tide of resentment would flood against him from those who felt he had let them down—a deluge unequaled since the storm of bitterness against Teddy Roosevelt when he was almost nominated in 1916 but proposed Henry Cabot Lodge instead. The convention refused to accept Lodge, chose Charles Evans Hughes and never forgave T. R.

Faced with a similar situation at Chicago, the Democrats might follow Roosevelt's advice and nominate Cordell Hull, but against Willkie they could not elect him.

In other words, it looks as if Roosevelt, whether he wants to run or not, will have to come through. So barring the unpredictable, you can be pretty sure that the candidates you will have to choose between in November, 1940, are Willkie and Roosevelt.

Note—At least one member of Roosevelt's cabinet will vote for Willkie if Hull is nominated.

THE GREATER INDEPENDENCE

To work! To have the right of toil
In industry or on the soil!
To know reward when school is done,
The chance to win as they have won,
To have no fear of that "black day"
When foremen find the man of forty "in the way";
To meet old age with smiles,
To know its lengthening miles
Will not be strewn with malediction,
Or want that is privation's benediction;
To face the future, man and boy,
Not with trembling, but with joy,
All we want is work.
And when we've worked, resulant bread,
And when we're old
Let there be no hunting dred—
This, the mutual wish of man and Previdence,
Will one dy be the greater independence!

Army Housing Expands

The army announced that temporary housing units would be constructed to shelter the thousands of additional troops to be recruited.

It was learned that 16 labor leaders, representing the AF of L, the CIO, and the railway brotherhoods had been called to act as an advisory committee on labor policy under the national defense program.

The naval committee, making rapid progress, had expected to reach a vote on the Knox nomination today. But late in the day, Senator Holt (D-WVa) brought up a newspaper column by Helen Essary, which on June 22 quoted Knox as having said: "We should go into Europe at once, not only with cash and credit and supplies, but with men."

Knox denied having made such a statement, but Holt insisted that Miss Essary be called, and the committee recessed until tomorrow, planning to hear her then.

Workers Get Social Security Numbers

Workers of any age or those who are looking for jobs may obtain social security account numbers.

This applies to young folks under 18 as well as to older men and women over 65, according to William E. LaRock, manager of the Social Security Board field office in Escanaba.

"Every one who works in commerce or industry needs a social security account number," Mr. LaRock said.

"Even where the worker is under 18 the employer is required to give the social security account number of this person, if the job is one which is covered by the Social Security Act. Young folks who are planning to seek employment will save time and effort for themselves and their employers if the numbers are obtained before work is started and the card shown to the employer at the time the service begins," Mr. LaRock added.

Willkie's Home Town Perfect Environment for His Boyhood

Second of six stories on the life of Wendell Willkie, the small town Hoosier who grew up to become a Republican presidential nominee.

* * *

BY TOM WOLF
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The Elwood, Ind., of 1892 into which Wendell Willkie was born was a living laboratory of social and economic maladjustment. It was the perfect place for a sensitive, inquisitive, young boy to acquire a deep-seated social conscience.

Once a typical sleepy country town, in the heart of the corn belt, Elwood became a magnet for industry with the discovery of its natural gas supply. So profuse was the supply at one time that it was found more economical to leave street lights burning all day than to hire men to extinguish and light them.

But by the time that Wen Willkie was a boy, the gas supply had all but been exhausted. Much of the industry which had rushed to it deserted Elwood, leaving behind many of the migrant laborers it had imported.

In this maladjusted town the Willkies were comparatively well-to-do citizens. Herman Willkie had made money in real estate during the boom days, though he lost much of it in the Panic of 1893. He had built a three-story, green frame house not far from the town high school.

LIBRARY PRIDE OF WILLKIE HOME

To many citizens of Elwood, the most impressive aspects of the Willkie home were the stained glass windows or the huge, cherry six-foot living room fireplace. To the Willkies themselves, the pride and joy of their home was a 6700 volume library.

The late Herman and Henrietta Willkie both were lawyers. (Mrs. Willkie was the first woman ever admitted to the Indiana bar.) They read extensively, and encouraged their children to do likewise.

It was here that young Wen acquired his ravenous appetite for reading—which today is his one hobby. Even at his office books litter every available inch of space.

In both books and movies his weakness is thrillers. In addition, he manages to read every week a couple of non-fiction books of every shade of political coloration. Because books have given Willkie a sympathetic understanding of many problems, his friends include radical and reactionary.

WOULD JUST AS SOON ARGUE AS EAT

At the Willkie dinner table in Elwood, the conversation often turned to the issues raised by new books of the day. In ensuing arguments young Wen needed all his wits to keep up with the keen, searching minds of his law-trained parents.

Argument is another Willkie love that hangs over from his early youth.

Today he'd as soon argue as eat. At the end of a meal, Willkie is likely to have no notion of what he ate because he was carried away in argument during the dinner. This may explain his decided preference for plain food.

Being but one of six children of busy parents and growing up in an informal town, it was natural that When should not become over conscious of his dress. He was usually immaculately clean, but seldom neat. The continuation to the present of these characteristics is the bane of his wife's existence.

His appearance is not entirely unconscious, however, for he candidly admits that "in my business it's an asset to look like an Indiana farmer."

Many of the Willkie neighbors like to remember young Wen as the local "bad boy." Exploits he certainly did have, as the time he lowered himself by his suspenders from the roof of the Elwood gas tank to paint his class numerals on it. But most of the stories of his wild and boisterous youth have become exaggerated by time and frequent telling.

FIRST WORKED AT HOUSE MOVING

Wen got his first job when he was 11. He went to work with his older brother Ed, carting the small abandoned houses of Elwood's migrant factory workers out to the surrounding farms and selling them to new farms.

In this varied atmosphere — some work, some play, and always reading and keen discussion — blue-eyed, exuberant Wen Willkie grew up. He did not spend his entire youth in Elwood, for his father traveled extensively, both as a circuit judge and as superintendent of schools at Fort Wayne. But Elwood was Wen's principal home, until, when he was 15, he went to join his elder brothers at the University of Indiana.

There the mold for the future Republican presidential candidate was even more clearly cast. There, too, he met his future wife, although at the time he didn't know it.

Chief Says Go Slow And Easy On July 4

There really isn't much new to say about it, but it is important nevertheless and a reiteration of the same old idea in the paper can't do any harm. Fourth of July is coming and safety first should be every one's motto for that day and the rest of the week-end.

Such was the sentiment expressed by Chief of Police Michael F. Ettenhofer yesterday. The police will be watching with extra care throughout the city all this week-end and especially Thursday. But if some one gets reckless and rams into some one else in a car, well, the police can watch it, they can not prevent it, and the results are no less damaging just because the police were using extra caution.

Will They Obey?

Extra caution must come, the chief said, from the motorists themselves. And from pedestrians, too.

There will be a lot of extra traffic Thursday. The heavier the traffic the more chances there are for accidents. The more chances for accidents, the more careful drivers should be, said the chief.

Every driver knows, the chief said, that he should not pass on hills or curves, that he should observe all traffic signals, that he should drive at reasonable speeds, that he should not drive if he is not sober—but will they all obey the rules? Just one slip will put perhaps a dozen people in hospitals.

Stitch In Time

About the best advice the chief could think of—and who will not agree it's good—is that for July 4 picnics, or other outings, every one should start sooner and drive slower or else be content to arrive later.

A stitch in time, he said, saves nine—and when it comes to traffic those stitches may be surgeon's stitches administered in a hospital.

There hasn't been a traffic fatality this year in Escanaba and the chief would hate to see that record blemished.

ANDERSON CUT OFF WPA ROLL

Escanaba Man Suspended In Drive Against Left Workers

Raymond C. "Pinky" Anderson, long identified with liberal political activities in Escanaba was dismissed yesterday from the Michigan WPA payroll, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Detroit.

The dismissal was made by Abner E. Larned, state WPA administrator, who at the same time announced suspension of Two Detroit men, Nathan Wald and Harold G. Hartley, because they refused to sign affidavits that they were not members of the Communist party.

Whether Anderson's suspension was for this reason was not made clear. WPA authorities in charge of certifications here could not be contacted last night.

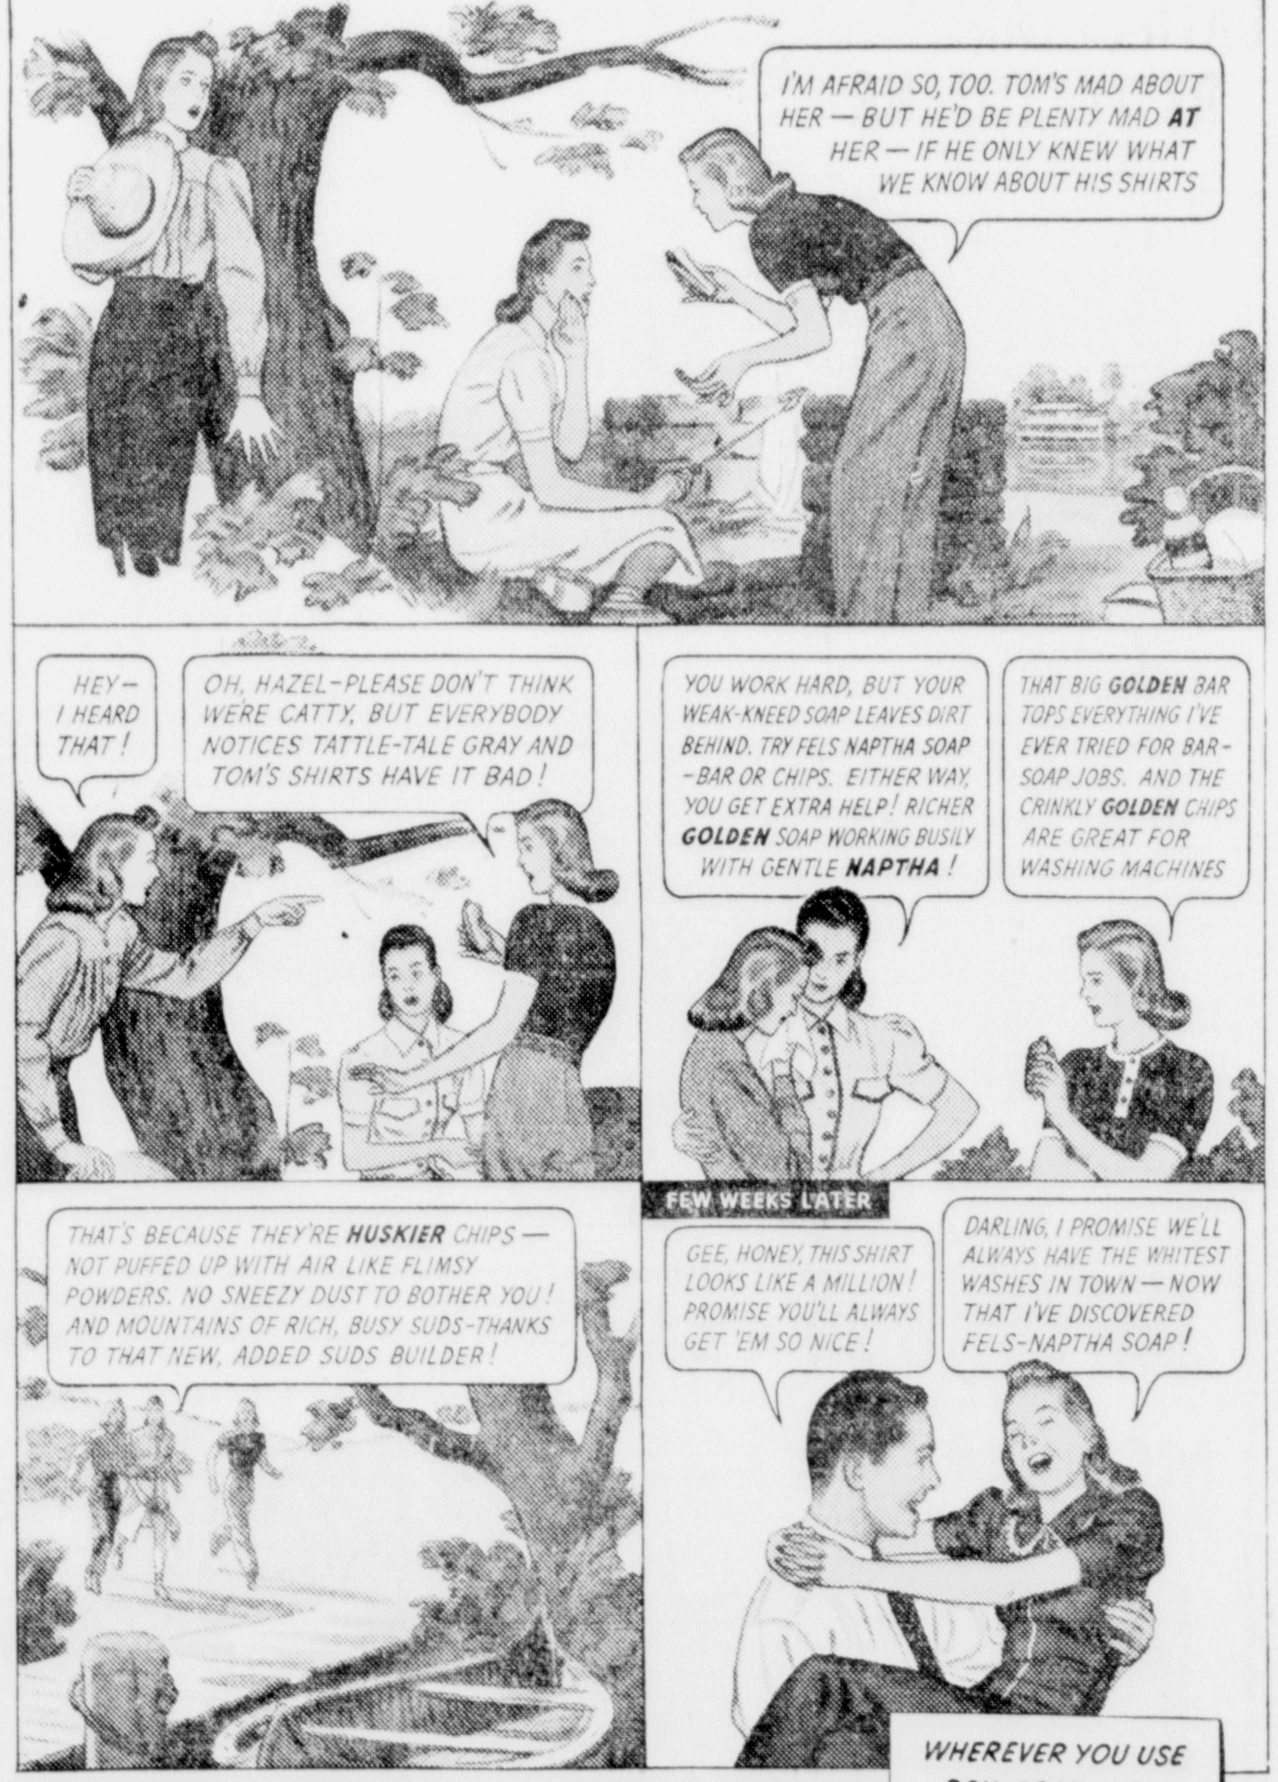
That little bride

IS HEADING STRAIGHT FOR HUSBAND-TROUBLE!



I'M AFRAID SO, TOO. TOM'S MAD ABOUT HER — BUT HE'D BE PLENTY MAD AT HER — IF HE ONLY KNEW WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT HIS SHIRTS
HEY— I HEARD THAT!
OH, HAZEL—PLEASE DON'T THINK WE'RE CATTY, BUT EVERYBODY NOTICES TATTLE-TALE GRAY AND TOM'S SHIRTS HAVE IT BAD!
YOU WORK HARD, BUT YOUR WEAK-KNEED SOAP LEAVES DIRT BEHIND. TRY FELS NAPTHA SOAP —BAR OR CHIPS. EITHER WAY, YOU GET EXTRA HELP! RICHER GOLDEN SOAP WORKING BUSILY WITH GENTLE NAPTHA!
THAT BIG GOLDEN BAR TOPS EVERYTHING I'VE EVER TRIED FOR BAR-SOAP JOBS. AND THE CRINKLY GOLDEN CHIPS ARE GREAT FOR WASHING MACHINES
THAT'S BECAUSE THEY'RE HUSKIER CHIPS — NOT PUFFED UP WITH AIR LIKE FLIMSY POWDERS. NO SNEEZY DUST TO BOTHER YOU! AND MOUNTAINS OF RICH, BUSY SUDS-THANKS TO THAT NEW, ADDED SUDS BUILDER!
FEW WEEKS LATER
GEE, HONEY, THIS SHIRT LOOKS LIKE A MILLION! PROMISE YOU'LL ALWAYS GET 'EM SO NICE!
DARLING, I PROMISE WE'LL ALWAYS HAVE THE WHITEST WASHES IN TOWN — NOW THAT I'VE DISCOVERED FELS-NAPTHA SOAP!

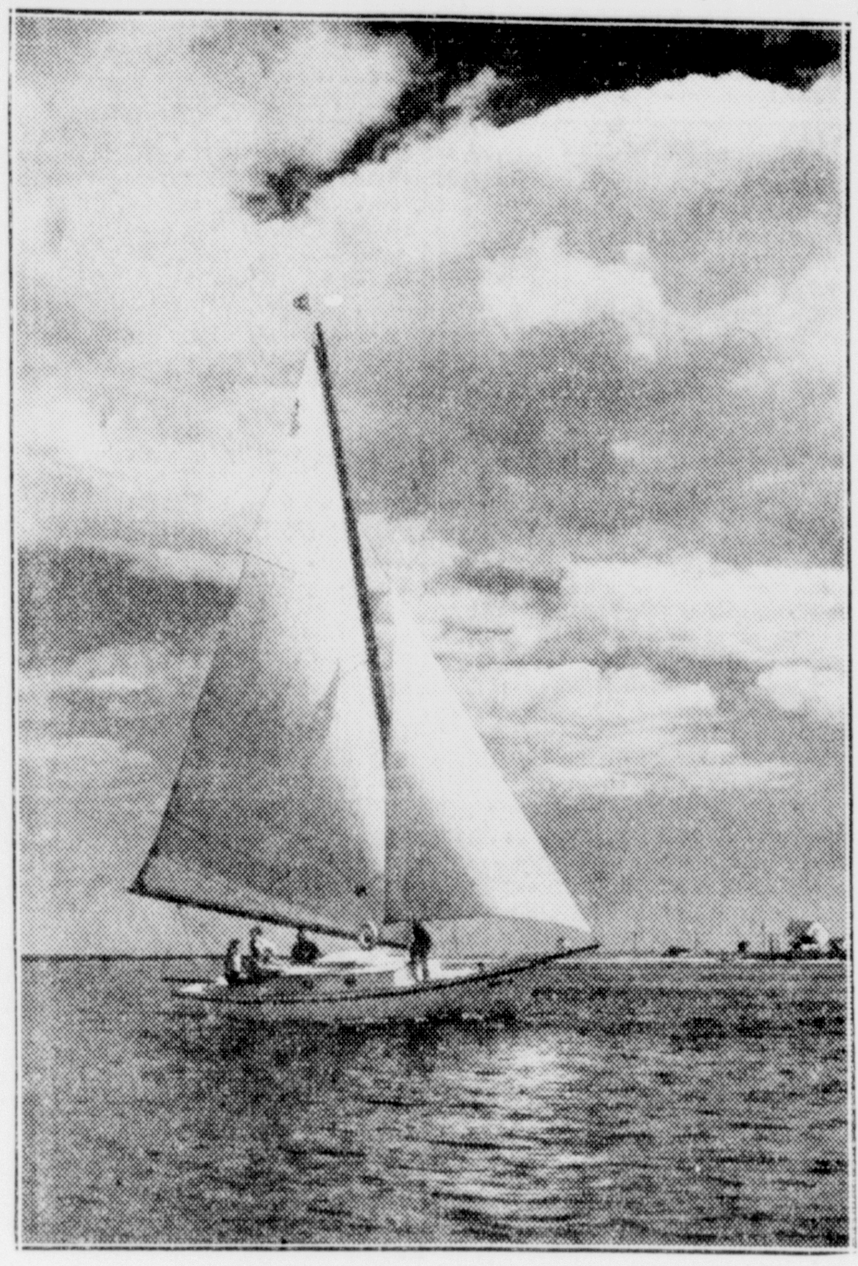
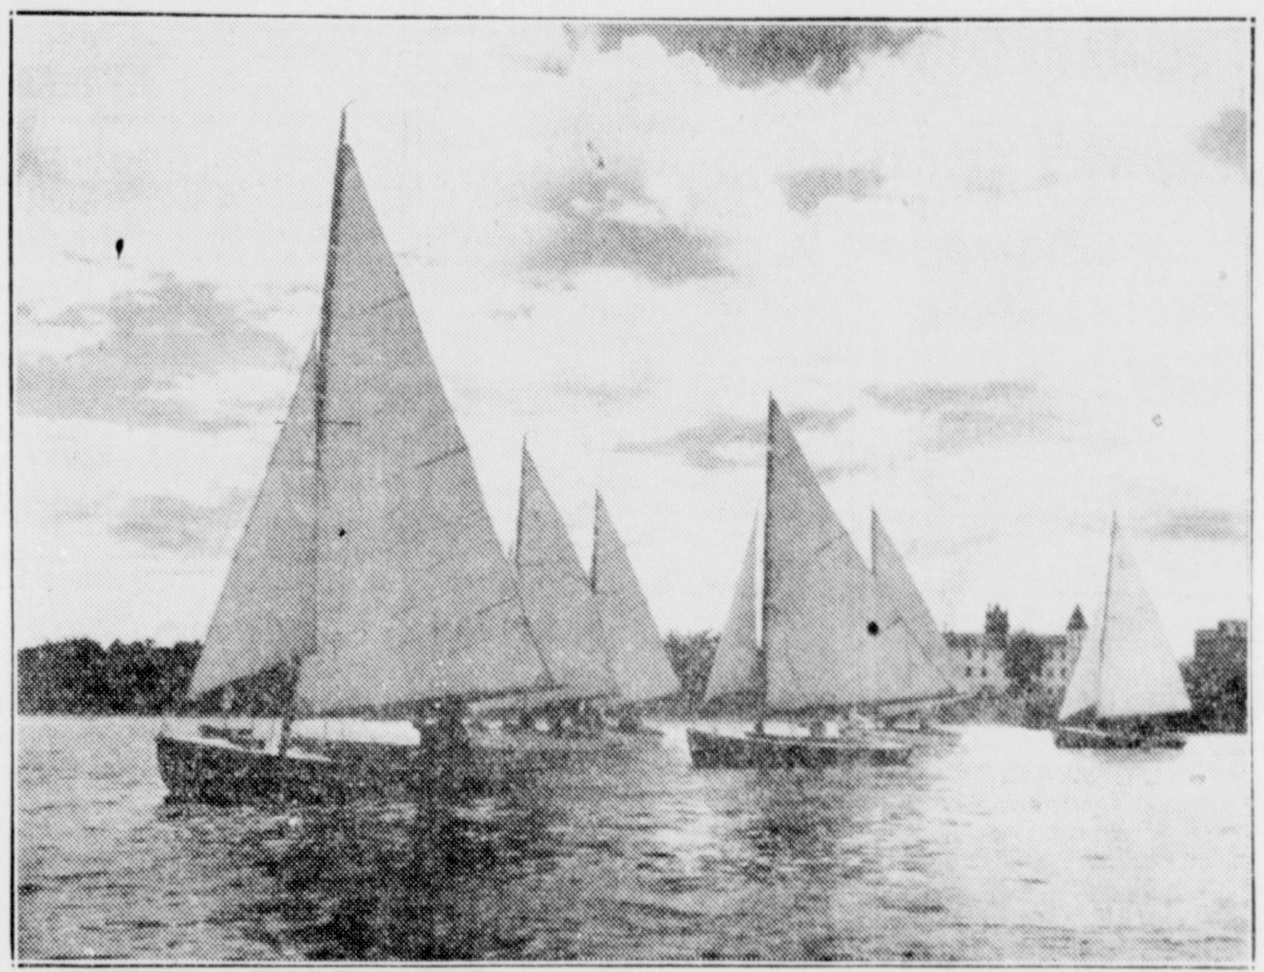
Gulls Race, Yachts Parade Under Perfect Skies





Left, a photographer's dream come true of a picture of a sailing boat—O. V. Thatcher's Onaway, with Charles Thatcher at the tiller, which took part in a yacht and boat parade around and about a six mile triangular course of the second heat of the Gust Asp trophy race for gull boats Sunday. Many another boat in Little Bay de Noc made as pretty a picture under billowy clouds and a bright blue sky, with the water whipped slightly by a light south breeze.

Upper right—They're off! Six of the eight starting gulls were bunched as they crossed the starting line near the Merchants dock. In the foreground here is the Carefree and others left to right are the Lorrie, the Kay Jay, the Alibi, the Nautigal and Suds. The Ah-Mie and the Melodie, last over the line, are not shown, although Francis Boyce's Melodie won the race.

Sandsucker Given Tryout—Goes Back In Service Today

The city sandsucker, reconditioned since a fire all but destroyed it a couple of months ago, was given its first trial yesterday afternoon in the yacht harbor and will be put into service today, pumping sand from around new pilings in the turning basin of the harbor.

This will keep the sucker busy for a week or ten days and after that it will be transferred to the site of the new lagoon bridge, where it will spend the rest of the summer filling sand around the bridge foundations.

WPA workers had their usual bi-weekly holiday yesterday, just before the end of the pay period. They were off two days last week while WP9 inventory was taken and they will be off July 4.

Various delays have held back somewhat the beginning of playground and recreational projects, but these are now scheduled for a start probably in the next two weeks.

Rapid River Boy Home From Navy

Rapid River, Mich.—Arthur Christoff, of the U. S. Navy, arrived here June 21 for a month's visit at the home of his parents. He came here from the submarine base at Pearl Harbor navy yard, Hawaiian Islands, where he has ben stationed for the last six months. Since his last visit home which was in April, 1939, he has visited a number of places. He made a trip to Alaska, where they took supplies to a radio station. From Alaska he went to Panama, cruised in Chinese waters and spent some time there. He also has been to the Philippine Islands, and Honolulu.

Arthur graduated from the Rapid River high school in 1935 and has been in the navy four years. He took up the study of electricity and is now rated as electrician mate. Art expects to leave here about July 19, and will report at the Chicago bureau of navigation, where he will get his assignment. He expects to be sent to the east coast.

GOOD ONLY ONCE

A bee is able to sting only once, because its stinger pulls out and remains imbedded in the victim. The bee itself dies shortly after losing its stinger.

Although her condition had been critical for some time, her death came as a shock to the family and a host of friends in the Copper Country.

Mrs. Van Orden was born in Chicago February 21, 1878. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pierpont Jones, an early American family who came to Chicago from Walpole, New Hampshire. She and Mr. Van Orden were married in Chicago on November 5, 1905, and they immediately came to Houghton to reside.

Mrs. Van Orden is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Clyde S. Munns at home and Mrs. Henry Alinder, Jr., of Chicago, and two grandchildren, Marilyn Van Orden Munns and Peter Henrik Alinder.

SMALL BOY DROWNED

Iron Mountain—Believed a victime of a heart attack, David John Williams, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert John Williams, of Toledo, was drowned at about 4:45 p. m., yesterday at the Lake Antoine bathing beach, the first swimming fatality of the season in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their son have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Saunders, 605 Chapin street, on the north side. Early yesterday afternoon the two families went to Lake Antoine for a picnic, and thereafter Edward Saunders and the Williams boy went for a swim.

They had been in the water about an hour when Mr. Williams, looking for his son, failed to find him. Finally he saw a small group of bathers a short distance from shore, and near them another form, floating in the water. He swam out, and found the body of his son.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, July 2 (AP)—War, business or political stimulation again was lacking in today's stock market and leading issues clung to a slim area in desultory dealings.

Due to a brief morning flurry in steels, motors, aircrafts, shipping and specialty issues, the day's turnover managed to top the meager total of yesterday which was the second smallest in 18 years. Transfers amounted to 320,020 shares compared with 272,920 the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 40.9.

Owing to the stock exchange recess Thursday for the independence holiday, traders generally kept commitments light or stood aside altogether. Confusing the speculative picture also, it was said, was the muddled European war picture; threats of a British-Japanese flareup at Hongkong; absence of details concerning the new excess profits tax proposals for defense purposes, and continuance of fears for an enforced overseas peace which might hit American industry.

On the other hand, market hopes still were buoyed by prospects of huge rearmament spending. Latest naval awards for warships aided shipping stocks especially and other industrial corporations were expected to share later in government orders.

Holding modest advances were N. Y. Shipbuilding, Electric Boat, Penn-Dixie Cement, Loew's, Loft, Woolworth, Great Northern, Santa Fe and Consolidated Edison.

Unchanged to lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, American Telephone, Westinghouse and American Can.

In the curb moderate improvement was shown for Bath Iron Works, International Petroleum, Glen Alden Coal and Phoenix Securities. American Gas slipped, along with Creole Petroleum and Lake Shore. Volume here was around 106,000 shares against 74,000 Monday.

Hungary Celebrates 20 Years of Horthy

An admiral without a navy; a king without a crown; a dictator in everything but the name. This is Nicholas Horthy, for 20 years the ruler of post-World War Hungary.

The anniversary of 72-year-old Horthy's dramatic entrance to the world scene as Hungary's No. 1 citizen is commemorated by an issue of three new stamps. One value, reproduced above, pictures the regent. Another shows him on horseback, and the third, below, depicts an angel ringing the bell of Liberty. This third stamp also marks the return to Hungary of Kassa, and other northern territories.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 2 (AP)—Wheat futures prices closed 1-8 to 3-8 cents higher than yesterday's final figures on buying inspired late in today's session by Minneapolis houses and on unfavorable crop comment from the northwest spring wheat territory. The market rallied near the close but best prices were not maintained. Corn closed easy.

Indications of deterioration of spring wheat over a large area were reflected by reductions in estimates of private crop reports. The reports were conflicting, however, and the uncertainty regarding the war situation in the Balkans kept the trade in a cautious frame of mind.

Corn futures closed ¼ to 1 cent lower, the latter on December which sagged to a new seasonal low mark at 76 1-8. Private crop forecasts of around 2,500,000,000 bushels, compared with last year's harvest of 2,619,000,000, created a relatively weaker tone in the deferred delivery.

Wheat displayed a nervous undertone, moving erratically over a range of 1 3-8 cents. Final prices were, July 75 1-8, September 75 3-4 to 75 5-8, and December 76 7-8 to 76 3-4.

New York, July 2 (AP)—Low-yield issues registered small gains today, lifting slightly the general level of the bond market.

The rate of trade continued slow, as it has for the last week, while marketmen awaited war developments which would affect investments.

Among the rising corporates were McKesson & Robbins 5½s at 90; Pennsylvania General 4½s of '65 at 101½; Santa Fe 4s of '95 at 104; Consolidated convertible 3½s at 105¼; Goodrich 4½s at 102½; Postal Telegraph 5s at 19¾; Union Pacific 3½s of '71 at 95¼.

U. S. governments, which moved only lightly, ended the day 7-32 point higher to 5-32 lower.

In the foreign list, chief gainers were liens of such Latin American nations as Uruguay, Argentina and Brazil. Loans of Canada, Australia and New South Wales moved ahead. Italian government bonds slipped.

During January, 1939, the 200 factories in the Dominion of Canada produced 1,520,498 pairs of shoes, an increase of 58,869 pairs over January of 1938.

PEACE WARREN—a 6-year-old traveler en route from Boston to Los Angeles.

RHODA LOWELL—Wayne's fiancee, thinks Peace a nuisance. Doesn't like crossing the country to get married, either.

CAROLE LOVE—a movie star.

DARBY and JOAN—Peace's pet turtles.

* * *

Yesterday: Wayne Dennis, en route from Boston to Los Angeles to marry Rhoda Lowell, agrees to take Peace Warren, 6-year-old daughter of a friend, to her grandmother. Before the train leaves, Peace gets lost. Denny frantically snatches the wrong child, is chased as a kidnaper. He recovers Peace in time to catch the train but another passenger, Mrs. King, eyes him suspiciously.

CHAPTER II

"Now we're going through the Mohawk Trail. Used to be full of Indians."

"Will they burn up the train, Uncle Denny?" Peace tore her startled gaze from a family of children across the aisle to hunt for a blazing covered wagon and a ring of movie savages. Nary a warwhoop!

"Don't you wish it was our real honeymoon, dear?" she heard Denny ask Rhoda.

"What's a honeymoon, Uncle Denny?"

"Wh-why, a honeymoon's a trip you take right after you're married."

"What's married?"

"Married? Why-why, married's when two people live together, like your Mummy and Daddy."

"Are you and her married?"

"Don't ask so many questions," Rhoda snapped. "Didn't you bring anything to play with?"

"Darby and Joan." Peace patted the small case on the seat beside her, but just then her attention was attracted by a chocolate and the beckoning finger of the woman in back of Rhoda and Denny. Riding backwards, Peace had been watching her some time. Now she sidled into the aisle.

"Ask Mamma," the lady said.

"But I can't. She's in the H-O-S-P—I forgot the rest of it." She seized upon the sweet, nibbling joyfully.

"So-ooo! Then who's that woman with your father?"

"Me don't like her."

"Your father seems to," hissed the lady, drawing the child closer.

"He ain't—isn't my father."

"Your uncle?"

"He says to call him Uncle, but he's—he's just an Old Man." That was what Daddy called him, wasn't it? Peace accepted a pink bonbon. "Who are you?"

"I'm Mrs. King, dear. Do you know these people real well?"

Peace shook her head. "Never saw 'em before we got on the train," she said truthfully. "He—he came and took me."

Mrs. King looked terribly queer, glaring at the back of the two heads close together in the forward seat. "Don't you be afraid, little girl," she whispered. "Your Auntie King will be right here if you need her."

The couple in front sounded as if they were quarreling. "Don't call me honey. That's what you call Peace. Ridiculous name to give a young one."

"Isn't it?" Denny agreed. "—world at war, —a pacifist or something. —rabid on the subject."

* * *

The first gong for dinner tinkled through the car. Denny collected his young charge, who dove for her little case and slid something into her pocket. When they reached the dining car, Mrs. King was already seated across the way, opposite a stunning girl with a strangely familiar face. Her most striking feature was an aura of what looked to be natural, honey-hued curls. She met Denny's frankly quizzical gaze with a surreptitious glance, as if, as really was the case, Mrs. King had just said, "Don't look now, but see if he isn't—!"

"I've seen that girl somewhere before," Denny said.

"Why, she looks like Carole Love, the film star," Rhoda said. And the waiter, remembering former tips from bits of information, nodded. The lady was, indeed, Miss Love, he believed. And, he added to give further zest, the train was now going through the Hoosac Tunnel.

Rhoda ordered lobster salad, but when Peace shrilled she'd like "salud" too, the elder girl said: "Don't let her, Denny. We don't want her sick on our hands. Not till we get rid of her."

"Did you hear that!" Denny caught the King woman's hiss, and the horrified glance Miss Love turned on his fiancee. Had Rhoda seen it too? Her fork clattered to her plate. With a little shriek she stood up, backed away from the table, crying, "Take it away! Waiter!"

"Somep'm wrong, Miss?" Black hands seized the tempting looking dish. Eyes popped, the whites rolling in amazement. "Well, I nevah!"

"Take it away quickly. Ugh!" Rhoda slumped back into her seat.

Peace reached an anxious hand towards the platter and came away with a lettuce leaf. "It's only Darby," she explained, showing the small Mexican turtle, green, about the size of a half dollar and edged with red spots, that wriggled in her palm. I wanted salud for 'em but you wouldn't let me have any, so I let 'em nibble yours while you ate the rolls. They only took a little. Why, where's Joan? Rhoda Lowell, did you eat her?"

Rhoda paled. "I'd as soon eat a snake. Is one of them loose?"

"Snake!"

"Snake!"

"Snake!"

* * *

The diner took up the cry. Women clutched their skirts and climbed on chairs. Passengers yelled. Waiters grabbed carving knives and set up a search. In the hubbub, some started for the doors. The headwaiter was frantic.

Denny cried: "Don't be alarmed! Only a baby turtle!" But it was too late. The cry of snake drowned him out. The well-known pandemonium reigned.

Peace, on her knees, crawled under the tables, even after things had quieted down. "Don't step on her!" she sobbed. Rhoda failed in trying to drag her out of the dining car. "Me won't go with you! Poor little Joan!"

"You see?" Mrs. King resumed her seat and patted her beads reassuringly. "She's afraid of them. The vipers!"

* * *

It was Carole Love who found the missing pet. Here's your daughter's turtle," she smiled, handing the squirming Joan to Denny.

Before he'd finished thanking her, before he could correct the mistake about Peace, Rhoda demanded he throw that horrid bug off the train. Did he expect her to be annoyed all the way west. For one, she refused to eat and sleep with two crawling reptiles. Vainly he tried to persuade her the pets would amuse Peace; that they wouldn't be permitted to get loose again.

"I'll keep 'em in their cornpopper!" pleaded the tearful child. To be met by Rhoda's "Don't my wishes count for anything?'

Carole Love's eyes twinkled. "A cornpopper's just the thing. Here's a celery stalk an an oysterette. Will the yeat these?"

Peace beamed, and so did Denny. "You're very kind," he said.

"Ant eggs," Peace said. "Only I got hungry and ate 'em all up. They taste better'n cerule."

Good heavens! Would they hatch? Denny wondered. Rhoda hoped so, but Carole only laughed, while Mrs. King grimly tackled her filet mignon.

Peace would have to go right to bed, Rhoda ordered.

"Couldn't we take Darby and Joan to the washroom for just a little swim?" Miss Love asked, as they rose to go. "I'm sure we'd all rest far better, and we'll fasten the cornpopper real tight afterwards."

Denny relented, and Peace went after the small wire popper, without its handle, which fitted with her nightthings into the tiny blue case. And when, after a brief interlude, Peace returned, quite willing now to go to bed, he heard Carol's throaty voice say to Mrs. King, "You were quite right about it."

". . . course I was. . . bear watching," replied the other.

He was glad when the porter, making up the berths, shut out her suspicious, beady eyes. He wanted to question Peace, but not before Rhoda. What had Carole meant that Mrs. King was right about?

They retired early. Denny scarcely slept when he heard a piercing scream.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Philadelphia—There was something highly symbolic—though it wasn't meant that way—about the misfiring of the fast political maneuver attempted by Joseph Pew, eastern Pennsylvania G. O. P. moss, in connection with the nomination of Wendell Willkie.

Pew held Pennsylvania's vote back, on the final ballot, and the nomination almost walked out from under him before he could register it.

Things just moved too fast for him.

A new game was being played and when he finally plunked 72 votes on the line—when Willkie needed only two to win the nomination—he got a chorus of boos for his pains.

Which, to repeat, is symbolic. For it becomes more and more evident the nomination of Willkie means the beginning of a new era for the Republican party and possibly for the nation as well.

"OLD GUARD" ON OUTSIDE

The traditional "Old Guard" is on the outside. The convention was obviously unbossed from the start: and the fact that old-line leaders failed utterly to regain control of it simply testified that their day is pretty well ended.

New men are coming up: young men like Sam Pryor of Connecticut, Governor Stassen of Minnesota, Congressman Bruce Barton of New York, and their kind.

With them has come a new kind of politics.

Willkie didn't get the prize by maneuverings of the old type.

The only smoke-filled room at this convention was the convention hall itself: and the delegates made the decision they made because, obviously, they felt it was a decision the general public had already reached.

Willkie had started late and he started from scratch.

As recently as two weeks before the convention, wise old party heads in Washington were refusing to take his candidacy seriously.

He hadn't gone out and got any delegates: he hadn't reached any understanding with the big leaders.

The public was steamed up, of course, but, it was objected, "It's the delegates who are going to do the nominating, and he just hasn't got 'em."

He had 'em in the end—because he found a way to short-circuit the ordinary, cumbersome processes of the democracy.

PLATFORM IS CASUALTY

Chief casualty of the Willkie victory was the party platform, adopted formally just 24 hours earlier.

The famous defense plank, written with such labor to satisfy both interventionists and isolationists, is forgotten already.

Like the rest of the platform, it will mean what Willkie says it means.

He's the boss now.

The G. O. P. is in for a new deal and it is never going to look quite the same again.

The production charts for July, 1940, a typical 1940 working month, of one of the prominent U. S. American plane manufacturers, plan for a total of 138,000 working hours. Of this total only 43,000 hours will be directed toward military aircraft.

I'LL GLADLY EXPLAIN, BAXTER! I HAVE SO DISPOSED MYSELF THAT THE TREE LEAVES ALLOW JUST ENOUGH ROOM FOR OLD SOL TO TRICKLE THROUGH WITHOUT BURNING MY PERSON — HAR-RUMPH! — AS THE RAYS PASS DOWNWARD THEY GATHER PRECIOUS TREE-LEAF VITAMINS, WHICH I ABSORB — AT THE SAME TIME, THE LEAVES ACT AS A FILTER, PERMITTING ONLY THE PUREST OF SUNSHINE TO SEEP THROUGH! Rote Speaker Urges All to Take Interest In Gov't Problems

Service and civic clubs or organizations should take an active interest and a definite stand on all proposals for community betterment and all governmental problems, it was stated by City Manager George E. Bean of Escanaba in a talk before the Gladstone Rotary club Monday noon.

In order to have true democratic government, local, state, or national, it is necessary that all citizens take an interest in governmental problems, and advise proper officials of their wishes, the speaker said. He cited examples whereby through apathy on the part of citizens, state and national legislatures acted in manner which did not prove popular and criticism followed.

The people make the government, Mr. Bean declared, and pointed out that in the case of our local government the commission is guided by the wishes of local residents in the matter of policy and then the manager, as administrator, carries out the policies adopted by the commission or council.

A brief review of current events of the past week was given by George Mathison and Tom Beaton, program chairman, outlined the program for the year.

DEPEND ON EACH OTHER

Without bees, many of our most common flowers would be exterminated. Some of the flowers can fertilize themselves with their own pollen, but this method produces an inferior plant. On the other hand, without flowers, the bee race would die out.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 7-2

Baer Scores Upset, Stops Galento In 7 Rounds

TONY'S MOUTH BADLY CUT UP

Fight Stopped As Bell Sounds At Beginning of Eighth

BY SID FEDER

Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, N. J., July 2 (AP)—Unpredictable Maxie Baer, still no more consistent than the weather, got "hot" tonight and chilled Tony Galento in eight rounds, thereby defying any and all comers to challenge his right to the championship of the screwballs.

With an assist from Tony's brother, who bounced a beer glass off the Galento chin in a barroom row two night ago, the former heavyweight boss cut the walking beer-keg's mouth so badly that Referee Joe Goldman halted the fight just as the bell sounded to start the eight round, giving Maxie a technical knockout.

Blood Drips Freely

Up to that point, the playboy pounder of the Pacific had banged Tony's face with such damaging effect, that at the finish blood dripped from the end of Galento's chin like a leaky faucet.

A near capacity crowd in the International league ball-park cheered Max on as he stopped the 1 to 2 favorite in the long-heralded "Battle of the Bums."

The brawl was enjoyed by 22,711 customers who paid $98,004 for the privilege, promoter Mike Jacobs announced.

With his triumph, Maxie also won another chance at heavyweight king Joe Louis, an honor he may not welcome. He was counted out on one knee in the fourth round when he went against the Bomber in 1935. And the chances are that as an older and wiser head now, he won't exactly start the bands playing for the second encounter, which Promoter Mike Jacobs has tentatively scheduled for Chicago in September.

Left Hand Broken

The beating wasn't all that happened to Tony tonight. He not only wound up with a mouth cut clean through, requiring six stitches, but his left hand was broken in the second round when he bounced a wild swing off the top of Maxie's head. Then, before they ever got into the ring, it was learned Caswell (Keppel) Jacobs, brother of Tony's late manager, Joe Jacobs, had served papers on Promoter Mike Jacobs attaching Galento's end of the purse on behalf of Joe's surviving relatives—two brothers and a sister.

Maxie wasn't supposed to be in good enough condition to stand up four rounds tonight, but he must have been holding out on the boys. For, while he was tired at the finish, he didn't look as though he'd need to leave in a wheel chair. In fact, a midget climbed into the ring as Galento walked out, and Maxie, as serious as usual, wrestled on the floor with him for several moments.

Brother Scores Assist

Baer did an expert job for the seven rounds the fight lasted but, in all fairness, he ought to "cut" Tony's brother, Russell, in on his purse. For Russell's high hard one with the beer glass cut Tony's chin two nights ago, and it was this gash, enlarged and deepened, which brought Baer the victory.

In the first round, this bigger Baer — he weighed 221½ to Tony's 244½—went to work on that cut, and had it opened in the first two minutes. From there on, he just aimed at this target like a bull going after grandpa's red flannels. Tony's mouth wasn't a pretty thing to see when the fight ended, just after Whitey Bimstein, one of his seconds, had summoned the referee the examine the wound.

As expected and advertised, these two stretched the Marquis of Queensbury rules a bit. Once Tony rushed in and butted Max under the chin with as much "zing" as he could put behind it. Max leaned over the ropes, spitting teeth and blood, and the referee warned Tony. This round was taken from Galento for his fouling, but it was Maxie's on merit anyway.

Backhands Popular

Tony also gave quite an exhibition of backhanding on occasion, while Max, not to be outdone, held up his end by hitting on the break once in a while, and leaning on Tony in the clinches until the referee warned him to desist.

Maxie also brought his occasional clowning, grinning tactics into play. In the first round, he grinned when Tony bounced a left off his chin. Then, he ducked under Tony's next three swings, came up inside with short rights and lefts and scored plenty.

Both were bleeding in the second, Baer from his nose. In the third, both looked tired enough to ask for a night's lodging. After that the pace slowed somewhat, and the referee was the hardest working man in th ring, parting them about five times a minute. The referee, probably was the best conditioned man inside the ropes, too.

Midway of the seventh, it became clear that Max had the fight in his pocket, although Tony still charged in, only to be met with stiff, straight punches. Once Galento charged half way across the ring, swinging, and, as Baer sidestepped, Tony stumbled to one knee.

Brawl At Weigh-In

For the benefit of fistic historians, this was the 19th anniversary of Jack Dempsey's tussle with Georges Carpentier in this town. There was no resemblance in the two. Tonight's was strictly a brawl.

It started, in fact, at the weigh-in when they squared off to pose for photographers. Tony cuffed Max's arm, and Max countered with a right aimed at the body before their handlers stopped it.

In the dressing rooms afterward, Max let the folks in on the secret that Joe Louis had told him how to fight Tony.

"The old champ here," he pointed to the Bomber, who had crowded into the room, "came up to my camp and showed me what to do. Boy, he really did a good job didn't he."

Galento, meantime, howled for a return match. "I can lick dat bum" he moaned through his puffed lips. "I got a tough break tonight, but I shoulda flattened him anyway."

AILING GOMEZ NIPS SENATORS

Sloppy Defense Helps Yankees to Annex 6-2 Decision

Washington, July 2, (AP)—The New York Yankees sprang Lefty Gomez out of semi-retirement today and walloped the Washington Senators 6 to 2 with a 14-hit offensive.

Gomez, who had been suffering from a back ailment, was on the mound for the first time since April 19 except for a couple of appearances in exhibition games. During the seven innings he worked before tiring, he allowed nine hits but was scored upon in only one inning. In the second, Washington tallied twice on doubles by Zeke Bonura and Jim Bloodworth and a single by Pitcher Dutch Leonard.

The Washington knuckle ball star had a perfect day at the plate, if not in the box, hitting three for three. He was plagued by the Senators' sloppy defense with errors figuring in most of the champions' scoring. Altogether Washington made five fumbles, the same as in yesterday's game.

DETROIT TAKES TOP IN LEAGUE

Ragged Playing Still Wins From White Sox, 10 to 9

BY DALE STAFFORD

Detroit, July 2 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, baseball's surprise team of the year, climaxed their steady climb in the American League today by defeating the Chicago White Sox 10 to 9 to move into first place in the standings.

The Tigers, who played one of their most ragged games of the season, got assistance in taking the lead by six scant percentage points when the St. Louis Browns humbled the Cleveland Indians, pace-setters in the standings.

City Baseball Mad

Thus Detroit is a pennant contender for the first time since 1935, the year the Tigers won the world's championship, and baseball fever grips the city and Michigan again. And in the offing is the Fourth of July showdown double-header with the Indians.

Today's tussle required two hours and 37 minutes to complete and there was scoring in all but three of the 17 half-innings. Detroit was outhit 16 to 11 but benefitted from 11 bases on balls issued by three White Sox flingers. The Tigers committed three errors and Chicago two.

In winning Detroit came from behind four times.

The teams were deadlocked at eight runs at the end of six and one-half innings. Detroit broke the tie when Dick Bartell was hit by a pitched ball, moved to second on a walk and scored on a pop single Rudy York dropped into center field.

What proved to be the winning run came in the eighth when Ralph (Red) Kress homered.

Three Pitchers Used

Alton Benton, who relieved young Tom Seats at the end of five innings, was credited with the victory but he had to have assistance from Archie McKain in the ninth when the Hose had runners on first and second and two were out after scoring their ninth run. Joe Kuhel lined to Bruce Campbell in right to end the game.

Chicago also called on three hurlers—Bill Dietrick, Pete Appleton and Clint Brown. Dietrick worked four innings and gave eight walks and four hits. Appleton permitted five hits and walked two in his stay and Brown then came in just in time to be charged with the loss.

In the final game of the series tomorrow Paul Trout will try again for Detroit while Jack Knott will be on the mound for Chicago. Trout has shown little so far this season.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

AN UNFORTUNATE incident occurred Sunday, in a diamondball game between the White Birches and the Indians . . . we are told that the umpire, angered over the protests of a young member of the Indians team, struck the youth . . . we were not present at the game and cannot speak with authority on the incident . . . we do not know by whom the argument was started nor what it was about . . . perhaps the youth was too insistent in his protest or he may have said something wrong . . . but regardless of what perpetrated the argument, there's no excuse for an umpire striking a player . . . if the boy did warrant punishment, and we don't say that he did, the umpire should have ordered him from the game . . . there's no room in sport for officials striking players and we hope it doesn't happen again.

A crow never complains without caws.

THERE'S INTEREST in the announcement that Lauritz Reque has been named football coach at Manistique . . . Reque did a good job of rejuvenating the Emeralds in basketball last year and there is reason to believe that he will do the same in football . . . Reque's a fighter and if he can carry some of that fighting spirit to the football team, Manistique should go places next fall . . . Manistique is a good football town and would welcome a team that could knock off a good share of its opponents . . . note that Reque plans to attend the coaching school in West Virginia . . . Jimmy Rouman has been toying with the idea for some time but would like to get a party to go . . . if any coaches are interested, get in touch with Jimmy.

ATHLETICS AND RED SOX SPLIT

Boston Outslugged, But Takes Nightcap By 15 to 9 Score

Boston, July 2, (AP)—Although the Philadelphia Athletics managed to out-slug the hard-hitting Boston Red Sox in both ends of today's double header, the Mackmen had to share the bill, winning the opener, 4 to 3, but dropping the nightcap, 15-9.

Rookie Ed Heusser, who retired in the seventh in favor of Chubby Dean, made his first major league start in the opener and was credited with the victory. The A's clinched the game against Denny Galehouse by putting together three singles for a run in the second inning and scoring three more in the fifth on a single by doubles by Wally Moses, Al Simmons and Dick Siebert.

The sockers walloped George Caster for 10 hits, including homers by Joe Cronin and Jimmy Foxx, for as many runs during his four-innings turn in the second game. Foxx' circuit drive, his 18th of the season, came with two on base in the second inning.

Blaney Wins 7 Hit Game from Lakefield

Blaney, Mich., July 2—Lakefield beat themselves Sunday, by piling up a stack of ten errors, when they lost to Blaney 5-3 in a Tri-county league game here. It was a tight pitchers battle, Maki of Lakefield allowing only four hits, and two Blaney pitchers allowed just three.

Von Orman of Blaney saved the day for the home team when he went in and clamped down on a dangerous scoring threat that started in the eighth inning.

Lakefield did not score until the sixth frame, when they got two of their three runs, picking up the other one in the eighth. The guests failed to find that last inning punch and couldn't make a showing in the final marker.

Blaney managed to get one in the second, one in the third and two in the fourth. Then the home town boys either hit a slump and the Lakefield nine started to play ball. Blaney scored its final run in the eighth.

CARLETON SETS PHILS DOWN, 4-1

Lead In National League Challenged By Verdict for Dodgers

Philadelphia, July 2. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers challenged for the National league lead today with a 4 to 1 triumph over the last place Phillies on Tex Carleton's three-hit pitching.

Until the seventh inning the struggle was a tight hurling duel between Carleton and Ike Pearson of the Phils. Neither gave a hit in the first four frames and it remained for Joe Medwick of the Dodgers to break the ice in the fifth with his first home run since joining Brooklyn and his fourth of the season.

The Phillies immediately tied up the score in their half of the fifth on a walk, the only one of the game, and a triple by Art Mahan.

This deadlock was broken by Brooklyn with a three run cluster on four hits in the seventh. Medwick started this, too, with a single, went to third on Babe Phelps' single and scored on a single by Dolph Camilli. Phelps came home when Joe Vosmik hit into a double play and Pete Coscarart climaxed the rally with his sixth home run of the year.

Gladstone, Mich.—The Redskins' 8-1 victory over Manistique Sunday coupled with Escanaba's defeat at the bats of Munising kept the local nine out in front in the Rainbow league with a full game over the Alger county Lions and 1½ games ahead of Escanaba and Manistique.

Tomorrow the Redskins travel to Munising for a July 4 clash with the Lions.

Sunday Escanaba comes here for a game which is expected to draw the largest crowd of the season to date. Clarence A. Clark and L. C. "Link" Brownell, who formed the battery for Gladstone back in 1890, will be on deck to hurl and catch the first ball of the game.

Scrappy Browns Enjoy Giant-Killing; Take 5 to 3 Victory

Cleveland, July 2. (AP)—The scrappy St. Louis Browns, relishing their role as giant killers, knocked Cleveland out of first place today. Relief pitcher Nate Andrews, former Brownie, served a ninth-inning home run ball to his rival, Vernon Kennedy, which gave St. Louis a 5 to 3 victory—its second straight over the skidding Tribe.

Chicago, July 2, (AP)—Bill Lee, the big right-hander who won 41 games for the Chicago Cubs the last two seasons, went the route for the first time in six weeks today, pitching a 10-0 shutout victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The victory was Lee's sixth as against 10 defeats and was only the third time this season that he has lasted nine innings.

While Lee was tossing five-hit ball, the Cubs pounded Joe Bowman from the box in the fifth and continued the assault on Dick Lanahan. They sewed up the game in the second with five runs on four hits, three errors and two bases on balls. Bob Collins, rookie catcher, and Bill Nicholson led the attack with three hits each.

Outdoors Writer To Cover Trolling Derby at Munising

Edwin McKay Johnson, outdoors writer of the Chicago Daily News, arrived here Sunday to spend several days of fishing and to gather some material for his daily outdoor column in his newspaper.

On Sunday, Johnson fished Little Bay de Noc in company with Leslie Doty, Rapid River fishing guide, and on Monday the pair took a 15-mile boat trip down the Whitefish river. Today, Johnson will explore the Nahma region, and on Thursday will participate in the lake trout trolling derby at Munising.

Johnson made a trip a few weeks ago through Minnesota, where he enjoyed much good fishing. Wisconsin and the Lower Peninsula of Michigan were not so favorable, but he says that fishing in Delta county has been about on par with Minnesota's.

The Chicago Daily News writer praised the Whitefish river trip, where he caught rainbow and brook trout, small mouth bass and pike in large numbers. He is writing a special article on the Whitefish river experiences.

An electrical keyless lock for automobile gas tanks has been devised. The lock will operate only when the ignition switch is on, and when a push button on the instrument board is pressed.

Escanaba's Bond Debt Is $17.20 Per Capita

With a per capita bonded debt of only $17.20, following payment on Monday of $28,000 worth of bonds, with interest, Escanaba is far ahead of the average city in the United States, according to statistics prepared by the National Municipal League.

The Municipal League's figures, just released, were gathered in a survey of 300 larger cities with 30,000 or more population, which means that the comparison is not entirely accurate, but it offers an indication of conditions here, in relation to situations in other cities.

Better Than Green Bay

Figures for Escanaba, prepared by City Comptroller E. E. Petersen, show a grand total of $251,500 worth of bonds still to be paid, and the per capita debt was figured on a population of 14,500.

In Green Bay the per capita debt, on the basis of 46,129 population, is $34.47, according to the Green Bay Press-Gazette, whereas the average bonded debt for cities from 30,000 to 50,000 population, according to the national survey, is $64.88.

Payments made Monday included $10,000 on a sewage disposal plant bond issue and $9,000 each on two special assessment street paving bond issues.

General City Debt

With these payments made, the city's bonded debt status was as follows:

Payable from the general city tax income: Sewage disposal plant, issue of July 1, 1931, totaling $180,000; $100,000 still outstanding to be paid in full by July 1, 1950.

1933 refunding bond issue of September 1, 1933, totaling $36,000; $6,000 now outstanding, to be paid in full next September 1.

This leaves a total general city bonded debt of $106,000, or a per capita debt of $7.26 payable from general city funds.

Water plant bonds, payable from water revnues are in two issues as follows:

$60,000 issue of December 1, 1935, payable in full on September 1, 1950, first $500 payment due September 1, 1940.

$29,500 issue of January 1, 1936, payable in full September 1, 1941; $19,500 still outstanding and $5,000 due next September 1.

$66,000 for Paving

This leaves at present $89,500 worth of water plant bonds outstanding for a $5.44 per capita debt on such bonds.

There are three special assessment pavement bond issues outstanding, as follows:

$45,000 issue of July 1, 1936, payable in full July 1, 1941; $18,000 still outstanding following Monday's payment.

$35,000 issue of September 1, 1936, payable in full September 1, 1941; $21,000 still outstanding, with $7,000 to be paid September 1.

$45,000 issue of July 1, 1937, payable in full July 1, 1942; $27,000 still outstanding following Monday's $9,000 payment.

This makes a total of $66,000 worth of paving bonds outstanding or a per capita debt of $4.50, although the bonds will be paid by special assessments against those benefitted.

AERO KNIGHTS SPONSOR MEET

July 28 Is Tentative Date, To Be Held At Local Field

An upper peninsula model aircraft meet, sponsored by the Escanaba Aero Knights, will be held at the local field Sunday, July 28, in the event this date is sanctioned by the National Aeronautics Association under whose auspices the meet will be held.

The date applied for will be subject to change only in the event that a meet of a similar nature is scheduled for this district on the same day.

Wilbur Falk, secretary of the local club, is in charge of the meet. Falk, who will announce his committees later, took first place in the gas model championship contest held recently at Green Bay.

It is planned to hold two classes of competition, one devoted to gas model planes and the other to those operated by rubber power. The meet is not only open to all clubs that are members of the association but also to any individuals desiring to construct model planes. Rules for the construction of planes will be announced at a later date.

Invitations have been sent to clubs in Green Bay and Wassau, Wis., Ironwood, Iron Mountain, Marquette, Ishpeming and numerous other cities in the upper peninsula.

Harold Gessner has been appointed as contest director. Since the meet will have the approval of the National Aeronautics Association, any records made will be official.

LOANS BY MAIL

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $6.43 a month

YOU can get a personal loan by mail if you can repay in small monthly installments. You may borrow $20 to $300. And you needn't even leave your own home to apply for your loan or to get the money. Just send the coupon below or a letter for full information without obligation.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and can readily repay $9.77 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. They include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 but not exceeding $200, and 1% per month on any remainder. Note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs.

Simple to borrow

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to acquaint us with your problem. We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get your loan quickly and simply.

Send the coupon now for free booklet and full information on how you can borrow by mail. No obligation!

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 but not exceeding $200, and 1% per month on any remainder.
